Unprecedented Data On TV

No Soviet Offensive Arms In Cuba, McNamara Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration has flashed across the nation's television screens an unprecedented display of intelligence data to support its stand that Cuba is free of Soviet offensive weapons.

The report to the nation late Wednesday had a double purpose: to reassure the people and to squeeze the steam out of a boiling political controversy over Cuba's armed might.

But despite Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's statement that he believes beyond any reasonable doubt that all offensive weapons have been removed from Cuba, Sen. Kenneth B. Keating seemed in no mood to let up.

Keating, a New York Republican who has been making charges since last August about Cuba's military might, said none of his statements had been disputed by McNamara in the television report which featured an intelligence expert and many reconnaissance photographs.

Many of the before-and-after photographs of missile sites and shots of Soviet ships at sea with missiles and crated IL28 bombers aboard had been made public before, during last fall's crisis.

But never before had the American people been given such a thorough account of how the United States detected the Soviet missile bases and rode herd at long range on departure of the missiles and bombers virtually every step of the way.

The administration's aim obviously was to impress the American people with the ability of U.S. aerial cameras and intelligence experts to ferret out whatever military gear the Communists try to hide.

In another move Wednesday, Kennedy ordered into effect penalties against foreign shipowners carrying cargo to Cuba.

With White House direction, officials mounted a massive two-way counterattack against those who have been claiming there is a growing threat in Cuba.

Before the televised report, Central Intelligence Agency chief John A. McCone went before a Senate Armed Services subcommittee.

"We are convinced beyond reasonable doubt that all offensive missiles and bombers known to be in Cuba" have been pulled out, McCone said.

McNamara used almost identical words when he went before the television cameras.

The Pentagon chief went even further, in an attempt to knock down persistent reports, mainly from Cuban refugee sources, that the Soviets are hiding missiles in caves, out of sight of prying aerial cameras.

"I am satisfied that there are no major elements of offensive weapons systems in the caves of Cuba," McNamara said.

He reported for the first time that recent reconnaissance has revealed that certain equipment of Soviet combat forces, gear associated with battlefield-type rockets, "has also started to be moved out of the island back to the Soviet Union."

McNamara acknowledged there still are about 17,000 Soviets in Cuba, including about 5,000 men in four motorized, tank-equipped task forces.

But he discounted the possibility that they could move any of their heavy military hardware against any other Latin-American countries. The Soviets and Cubans don't have the ships to do this, he said.

As for fears that the more than 100 Soviet MIGs could be used in a nuclear bombing strike against the United States, McNamara said they are not adapted for that mission now. If they were fitted to carry a maximum bomb load, the defense secretary said, their range would be so limited they could hit only the tip of Florida.

The bulk of the briefing was conducted by a youthful expert, John T. Hughes, who emerged from the secrecy-cloaked defense intelligence agency for that purpose.

Kennedy Plugs Medicare

1.6 Billion Asked In Health Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today prescribed ways to pep up the nation's health services—then got in a quick plug for his politically hot medicare proposals he may send Congress next week.

Today's message to Capitol Hill spelled out how the $1.6 billion in health funds—requested in his budget for the fiscal year starting next July 1—would be spent. It's $250 million more than the price tag in the current fiscal year.

The President proposed steps to:

Encourage and support training of more doctors, dentists and nurses, by helping build new and expand existing schools.

Extend for five years authority to share costs of building new hospitals, boost funds for new nursing homes, and share costs of hospital modernization.

Strengthen federal authority over sales of cosmetics, over-the-counter drugs and other health items.

Require cosmetic manufacturers to prove the safety of their wares and health device producers to prove both safety and effectiveness.

The President devoted two paragraphs in his 10-page message to what he called "a tragic irony that medical science has kept millions of retired men and women alive to face illnesses they cannot afford."

"Needless suffering in silence, financial catastrophe, public or private charity—these are not acceptable alternatives in the richest country on earth," he said. "Social Security health insurance must be enacted this year."

It was an advance boost for his medicare proposals, defeated in Congress last year. He intends to ask for it again in a general message on aging which a spokesman said would probably come next week.

The President also wants to boost research and control of air pollution and general health research by the National Institutes of Health.

The President called the shortage of doctors and dentists "particularly serious" since the schools are not graduating enough trained persons to keep up with the growth of the population.

April 20 In Wheeling

West Virginia Legislature Due In Centennial Session

CHARLESTON, W. VA. (AP) — Gov. Barron confirmed today he will call a special centennial session of the Legislature for Saturday, April 20, in Wheeling.

Barron was wearing a formal suit of the 1863 era when he announced that the session will be held to consider "events which brought West Virginia into being, the progress made in the first 100 years of statehood and the state's goals for the second century."

It was on April 20, 1863, that President Lincoln issued the proclamation admitting West Virginia into the union as the 35th state, effective June 20 that year.

Wheeling was the site of the 1861 convention which resulted in the people of northwestern Virginia counties breaking away from the mother state.

Barron was flanked by House Speaker Julius W. Singleton Jr. D-Monongalia; Senate President Howard W. Carson, D-Fayette, and Executive Director Carl R. Sullivan of the West Virginia Centennial Commission as he made the announcement. They also were attired in period costumes.

Barron said that — to give atmosphere and color to the occasion — all those participating in the special Centennial session and accompanying activities will be encouraged to dress as 1863 residents did.

The most important matter to come before the one-day session will be the adoption and signing of a second Wheeling Declaration setting forth West Virginia's goals for its new century.

The document will bring up to date the first Wheeling Declaration of 1861 setting forth the reasons for separation from Virginia.

Barron said the second Wheeling Declaration will be considered in the same room of the old Custom House where the First Declaration was adopted.

Other events planned will include speeches on Friday night, April 19, from the McClure Hotel balcony on the twin themes of West Virginia's past and future, preceded by a torchlight parade; the placing of markers on the Custom House and the Medical Arts Building, where the first state government of West Virginia was established.

Battle Slated In Ohio Over Jobless Aid

Rep. Wetzel One Of 8 Sponsors Of Bill To Boost Revenue

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The stage has been set for one dilly of a battle over the jobless benefits law.

A bill sponsored by eight Republican House members and supported by most Ohio business interests was introduced Wednesday.

Sponsors said it will increase the revenue of the benefits fund by $65 million a year—from $150 million to $215 million—and thus restore the fund to a solid foundation. The fund has dwindled by more than $500 million in the last six years and will be totally depleted by next year unless the legislature acts to preserve it, they said in a prepared statement.

In what appears to be one of the key changes in the new proposal is that the administrator of unemployment compensation would have authority to reduce benefits if the fund were in danger of financial collapse.

Republicans, who again are in charge of the legislature, seem to be bent on restoring to the unemployment compensation law a number of restrictions on benefits which were in the law before the 1959 legislative session. That year, Democrats liberalized the law.

The eight Republican sponsors of the "business" bill are Reps. Jacob A. Shawan, Franklin; Sam Landes, Madison; James D. Hapner, Highland; Robert H. Longsworth, Carroll; Robert E. Netzley, Miami; Gilbert Thurston, Henry; Clarence L. Wetzel, Columbiana, and Chalmers P. Wylie, Franklin.

The House voted to ratify, with only three dissenting votes, a U.S. constitutional admendment prohibiting poll taxes in connection with the right to vote for president, vice president, U.S. senator and congressmen. The issue now goes to the Ohio Senate where quick acceptance is expected.

Site For Post Office Chosen At Salineville

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, 18th District congressman, announced today at Washington a site on the south of side of Main St., Salineville, has been selected for a new Post Office.

The Meister and Madison properties have been selected for the office building site, according to the congressman. The size of the lots are 9,886 square feet.

Wellsville Democrats In 5 Races

2 Run For Mayor In Primary; GOP Has Ward Vacancy

The Democratic ticket will provide the main interest in the May 7 primary election at Wellsville. Races shaped up for five of the party's nominations at the filing deadline Wednesday.

The Republicans filled their slate yesterday with the exception of a candidate for the Third Ward councilman. There will be one race, with two candidates seeking the nomination as treasurer.

The Democrats have two candidates each seeking nomination as mayor, Council president and First, Third and Fourth Ward councilmen.

Seeks Second Term

Incumbent Mayor William Daugherty, 49, an insurance salesman, will be seeking his second consecutive term. His opponent is Councilman Allen C. Baldwin, 1708 Maple Ave., who was the Democrat candidate in the mayoralty race in 1957.

Incumbent Mrs. Mary C. Rahter, owner of the Rahter Wallpaper Store, 711 Main St., will be seeking her fourth term as Council president. Her opponent is Councilman William R. Stroble of the Fourth Ward, who is presently serving his second term.

In the First Ward race, Russell R. Keefer, 337 Highland Ave., Pennsylvania Railroad employe, and Raymond Sirianni, 421 Commerce St., an employe of the Crucible Steel Co., are opponents. Both newcomers are seeking the post now held by Mrs. Kay Drago, who declined to file.

In the Third Ward contest, Nunzio S. Lombardozzi, 1223 Clover St., an employe of Crucible and president of the Wellsville Jaycees, is opposing incumbent Councilman Frank R. DeLonze, 1200 Buckeye Ave., a Pennsylvania Railroad employe, who is seeking a second term.

2 For 4th Ward Post

The Fourth Ward race has pitted Wesley Wilson, of 19th St. and Walter E. Henthorne, 1712 Clark Ave.

Thomas W. Hunter, 1712 Maple Ave., a meat cutter, is the Democrat candidate for auditor.

Elmun L. Bemis, 1730 Clark Ave., a Crucible employe, is the Democrat candidate for treasurer. He was a mayorality candidate several years ago.

Robert T. Mason, operator of a radio and television repair shop at 615 Washington Ave., is unopposed on the Democrat ticket for Second Ward councilman. He is a political newcomer.

For Council-at-Large

The Council-at-large candidates on the Democrat ticket are Byron O'Neill, 1403 Boyce Ave., a Crucible employe; George W. Mackall, 812 17th St., a former councilman and a Pennsylvania Railroad conductor, and Richard F. Kountz, 401 5th St., an employe of the H. K. Porter Co. and a political newcomer.

Tragedy Mars Queen's Visit To New Zealand

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) —Tragedy marred the visit of Queen Elizabeth II to New Zealand today, just as on her first visit in 1953.

A bus loaded with Maoris, returning from the welcome for the queen Wednesday night, plunged over a 130-foot bank and 15 of the aborigines were killed. There were 21 injured, some seriously.

On Dec. 24, 1953, while the then Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip were in Auckland, a train en route to Auckland plunged into a river and killed 200 persons. Many of those aboard were on their way to see the royal couple.

Late Entries Widen Field For Council

Arch Smith To Run For President As Foe Of Edwards

Eight last - minute East Liverpool candidates filed with the County Election Board Wednesday afternoon in the final rush to beat a 4 p. m. deadline for the municipal primaries May 7, but no new aspirants entered for mayor on either ticket.

Six Democrats and two Republicans entered belatedly for Council seats, widening several races, before the curtain fell on filings for primaries in East Liverpool and six other communities. Forty-eight in all entered in the last six hours.

3-Way Mayor Races

But when the rush was over, East Liverpool Republicans and Democrats both were left with three-way races for the nomination for mayor. All the candidates had filed well in advance of the deadline.

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, Democrat, is seeking his third term, opposed by Councilman Frank P. Duffy, a member - at - large and a bitter foe of the city income tax, and Clifford J. Cooper, 840 St. George St., service station employe and former First Ward councilman.

The Republican mayoralty field is comprised of:

Merrill Hall, 219 Pennsylvania Ave., High School athletic director and former basketball coach who has been a teacher for 35 years; William T. Kind, 216 Walnut St., a former councilman and operator of a coal company, and Frank F. Fluno Jr., 1025 Edgewood Ave., operator of a tax service and insurance agency.

In perhaps the most significant last - minute entry, Arch H. Smith, 925 McKinnon Ave., filed for the Democratic nomination for Council president. Previously, the incumbent, Charles N. Edwards, had been unopposed for nomination for a third term. Edwards is a veteran Mulberry St. barber.

Willshaw Unopposed

They are Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper, seeking a seventh term; Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate, bidding for a second four - year term; Councilman S. James Welch, asking a second term as Third Ward representative, and Treasurer Bert A. Dawson, dean of boys at the High School, seeking an 11th term.

Cooper and Applegate are Democrats and Welch and Dawson are Republicans.

Here are the other last - minute candidates, in addition to Smith:

Robert G. Duncan, 575 Williams Ave., a veteran employe of the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., for the Republican nomination for Fourth Ward councilman.

Diefenbacker Cautioned On Anti-U.S. Bid

Dissolves Commons And Calls For New Elections April 8

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada's plunge into a new national election campaign was accompanied today by pressure on Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker to go easy on anti-Americanism. The pressure came from both inside and outside his Conservative party.

Diefenbaker, 67, went through the formalities Wednesday of dissolving Parliament and calling for new elections April 8 after his regime was unseated by two nonconfidence votes in the House of Commons. The move did not affect the Senate, whose members serve for life.

Despite his defeat in Commons, Diefenbaker's shaken Conservative party closed ranks behind him as its leader. Earlier some Conservatives had called for him to step aside.

Although some Conservative leaders declared that anti-Americanism will not be a campaign issue, the prime minister as recently as Tuesday accused the United States of more meddling in Canada. Diefenbaker appeared committed to hit hard on the question of Canadian sovereignty and the idea that "nobody is going to push Canada around."

Jury Acquits City Man In Trial For Assault

A Common Pleas Court jury deliberated two and a half hours in acquitting an East Liverpool man of a charge of assault with intent to rape Wednesday afternoon at Lisbon before Judge Joel H. Sharp.

Jerry Kent, 20, of Park Way was indicted by the January Grand Jury on complaint of a 36-year-old Wellsville mother of four, who claimed she was assaulted Nov. 15 in the kitchen of Commarata's Spaghetti House on W. 6th St., where she was employed as a waitress.

The panel of nine women and three men was sworn in Tuesday afternoon by Judge Sharp, who charged the jury shortly before noon yesterday. It began deliberations at 1 p. m., reporting the verdict at 3:30. Kent had been confined in the County Jail under $2,500 bond since the incident.

Dresden Ave. Mishap Hurts Drivers, Boy

Two men and a child were injured Wednesday in a car - truck crash on Dresden Ave. at McKee St. and one of the drivers was cited on two charges, police reported.

The collision, blamed on icy pavement, injured:

Walter I. Kimbro, 34, of R. D. 2, manager of the Social Security Administration office on Dresden Ave.; Raymond Robinson, 38, of 1723 Globe St., and his son, Raymond Robinson Jr., 5.

Kimbro suffered cuts of the face and a possible back injury; Robinson suffered cuts of both hands and an elbow, and his son was admitted with a laceration of the left eye and facial injuries.

The child's condition today was listed as "fair."

Kimbro told police he was headed south at "very moderate speed" when his 1959 sedan slid on ice as he rounded a curve and crashed into Robinson's northbound 1959 model truck. Robinson told police Kimbro's car crossed the center line and hit his truck.

Appearing today before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, he was given a suspended fine of $10 and costs on the illegal registration charge, which alleged he

Chester Area Men Jailed In Auto Looting

2 Arrested Within 1½ Hours, Enter Pleas Of Guilty

Two Chester area men were in the Hancock County Jail at New Cumberland today, charged with grand larceny as a result of theft of luggage and clothing from a salesman's auto in Chester for which they were arrested by officers within one and one-half hours Wednesday.

Phillip Sole, 27, of Johnstonville and Nathan Stout, 28, of the Chester - Newell Rd. pleaded guilty to the charge at a hearing last night before Squire Eugene Allison of Chester and were bound over to the April term of the county Grand Jury.

The two, accused of the theft of suitcases and clothing from a car on Carolina Ave. shortly after noon yesterday, were committed to the county jail in lieu of $1,500 bonds each.

Stout was taken into custody by Acting Police Chief Clarence Lennens and Patrolman Clifford Bebout in his car on Washington School Rd. yesterday afternoon, and the suitcases and some cloth-

Jail Guards Overpowered

Area Search Intensified For 3 Beaver Escapees

A search for three convicts, who overpowered two guards and escaped Wednesday night from the Beaver County Jail, was concentrated in the area between Midland and Vanport this morning.

Sheriff's deputies and area police pressed the hunt for Albert Sheets and Robert J. Lanigan, both 32 of Pittsburgh, and Charles L. Groves, 50, of Wooster after three men were seen walking the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks below the Dando Brick Works at Vanport.

East Liverpool and Midland police dispatched cars to the State Line late this morning to search for the trio but had nothing to report.

The Lisbon barracks of the State Highway Patrol also participated in the search last night.

A night watchman reported to authorities the three men apparently were carrying a blanket.

Sheriff John W. Hinsman said a blanket and 65 cents in change was stolen from a school behind the county jail following the break.

The trio, serving jail terms for the Christmas armed robbery of a Freedom confectionery, overpowered Andrew Mihalic, a jail guard who apparently was locking up the cells about 8 p. m.

Passing through two more doors, the trio entered the main office where a second guard, Vincent Kosloski, had his back to the prisoners while admitting a new prisoner.

Police throughout Beaver County and Ohio were alerted and roadblocks established.

Tragedy Mars Queen's Visit To New Zealand

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) —Tragedy marred the visit of Queen Elizabeth II to New Zealand today, just as on her first visit in 1953.

A bus loaded with Maoris, returning from the welcome for the queen Wednesday night, plunged over a 130-foot bank and 15 of the aborigines were killed. There were 21 injured, some seriously.

On Dec. 24, 1953, while the then Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip were in Auckland, a train en route to Auckland plunged into a river and killed 200 persons. Many of those aboard were on their way to see the royal couple.

TIDES, SWELLS POUND CALIFORNIA. This is the way this beach community looked early Wednesday as the combination of high tides and heavy swells assaulted Southern California beaches again, threatening new damage. At top of the street giant breakers continue to pound homes and litter the streets with debris. (UPI Telephoto)

Late Entries Widen Field For Council

Arch Smith To Run For President As Foe Of Edwards

Eight last - minute East Liverpool candidates filed with the County Election Board Wednesday afternoon in the final rush to beat a 4 p. m. deadline for the municipal primaries May 7, but no new aspirants entered for mayor on either ticket.

Six Democrats and two Republicans entered belatedly for Council seats, widening several races, before the curtain fell on filings for primaries in East Liverpool and six other communities. Forty-eight in all entered in the last six hours.

3-Way Mayor Races

But when the rush was over, East Liverpool Republicans and Democrats both were left with three-way races for the nomination for mayor. All the candidates had filed well in advance of the deadline.

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, Democrat, is seeking his third term, opposed by Councilman Frank P. Duffy, a member - at - large and a bitter foe of the city income tax, and Clifford J. Cooper, 840 St. George St., service station employe and former First Ward councilman.

The Republican mayoralty field is comprised of:

Merrill Hall, 219 Pennsylvania Ave., High School athletic director and former basketball coach who has been a teacher for 35 years; William T. Kind, 216 Walnut St., a former councilman and operator of a coal company, and Frank F. Fluno Jr., 1025 Edgewood Ave., operator of a tax service and insurance agency.

In perhaps the most significant last - minute entry, Arch H. Smith, 925 McKinnon Ave., filed for the Democratic nomination for Council president. Previously, the incumbent, Charles N. Edwards, had been unopposed for nomination for a third term. Edwards is a veteran Mulberry St. barber.

Willshaw Unopposed

They are Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper, seeking a seventh term; Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate, bidding for a second four - year term; Councilman S. James Welch, asking a second term as Third Ward representative, and Treasurer Bert A. Dawson, dean of boys at the High School, seeking an 11th term.

Cooper and Applegate are Democrats and Welch and Dawson are Republicans.

Here are the other last - minute candidates, in addition to Smith:

Robert G. Duncan, 575 Williams Ave., a veteran employe of the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., for the Republican nomination for Fourth Ward councilman.

Diefenbacker Cautioned On Anti-U.S. Bid

Dissolves Commons And Calls For New Elections April 8

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada's plunge into a new national election campaign was accompanied today by pressure on Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker to go easy on anti-Americanism. The pressure came from both inside and outside his Conservative party.

Diefenbaker, 67, went through the formalities Wednesday of dissolving Parliament and calling for new elections April 8 after his regime was unseated by two non-confidence votes in the House of Commons. The move did not affect the Senate, whose members serve for life.

Despite his defeat in Commons, Diefenbaker's shaken Conservative party closed ranks behind him as its leader. Earlier some Conservatives had called for him to step aside.

Although some Conservative leaders declared that anti-Americanism will not be a campaign issue, the prime minister as recently as Tuesday accused the United States of more meddling in Canada. Diefenbaker appeared committed to hit hard on the question of Canadian sovereignty and the idea that "nobody is going to push Canada around."

Jury Acquits City Man In Trial For Assault

A Common Pleas Court jury deliberated two and a half hours in acquitting an East Liverpool man of a charge of assault with intent to rape Wednesday afternoon at Lisbon before Judge Joel H. Sharp.

Jerry Kent, 20, of Park Way was indicted by the January Grand Jury on complaint of a 36-year-old Wellsville mother of four, who claimed she was assaulted Nov. 15 in the kitchen of Commarata's Spaghetti House on W. 6th St., where she was employed as a waitress.

The panel of nine women and three men was sworn in Tuesday afternoon by Judge Sharp, who charged the jury shortly before noon yesterday. It began deliberations at 1 p. m., reporting the verdict at 3:30. Kent had been confined in the County Jail under $2,500 bond since the incident.

Dresden Ave. Mishap Hurts Drivers, Boy

Two men and a child were injured Wednesday in a car - truck crash on Dresden Ave. at McKee St. and one of the drivers was cited on two charges, police reported.

The collision, blamed on icy pavement, injured:

Walter I. Kimbro, 34, of R. D. 2, manager of the Social Security Administration office on Dresden Ave.; Raymond Robinson, 38, of 1723 Globe St., and his son, Raymond Robinson Jr., 5.

Kimbro suffered cuts of the face and a possible back injury; Robinson suffered cuts of both hands and an elbow, and his son was admitted with a laceration of the left eye and facial injuries.

The child's condition today was listed as "fair."

Kimbro told police he was headed south at "very moderate speed" when his 1959 sedan slid on ice as he rounded a curve and crashed into Robinson's northbound 1959 model truck. Robinson told police Kimbro's car crossed the center line and hit his truck.

Appearing today before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, he was given a suspended fine of $10 and costs on the illegal registration charge, which alleged he

Chester Area Men Jailed In Auto Looting

2 Arrested Within 1½ Hours, Enter Pleas Of Guilty

Two Chester area men were in the Hancock County Jail at New Cumberland today, charged with grand larceny as a result of theft of luggage and clothing from a salesman's auto in Chester for which they were arrested by officers within one and one-half hours Wednesday.

Phillip Sole, 27, of Johnstonville and Nathan Stout, 28, of the Chester - Newell Rd. pleaded guilty to the charge at a hearing last night before Squire Eugene Allison of Chester and were bound over to the April term of the county Grand Jury.

The two, accused of the theft of suitcases and clothing from a car on Carolina Ave. shortly after noon yesterday, were committed to the county jail in lieu of $1,500 bonds each.

Stout was taken into custody by Acting Police Chief Clarence Lennens and Patrolman Clifford Bebout in his car on Washington School Rd. yesterday afternoon, and the suitcases and some cloth-

Jail Guards Overpowered

Area Search Intensified For 3 Beaver Escapees

A search for three convicts, who overpowered two guards and escaped Wednesday night from the Beaver County Jail, was concentrated in the area between Midland and Vanport this morning.

Sheriff's deputies and area police pressed the hunt for Albert Sheets and Robert J. Lanigan, both 32 of Pittsburgh, and Charles L. Groves, 50, of Wooster after three men were seen walking the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks below the Dando Brick Works at Vanport.

East Liverpool and Midland police dispatched cars to the State Line late this morning to search for the trio but had nothing to report.

The Lisbon barracks of the State Highway Patrol also participated in the search last night.

A night watchman reported to authorities the three men apparently were carrying a blanket.

Sheriff John W. Hinsman said a blanket and 65 cents in change was stolen from a school behind the county jail following the break.

The trio, serving jail terms for the Christmas armed robbery of a Freedom confectionery, overpowered Andrew Mihalic, a jail guard who apparently was locking up the cells about 8 p. m.

Passing through two more doors, the trio entered the main office where a second guard, Vincent Kosloski, had his back to the prisoners while admitting a new prisoner.

Police throughout Beaver County and Ohio were alerted and roadblocks established.

Rep. Wetzel Bill To Aid Township

State Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel introduced a bill in the House of Representatives today to repeal a section of the state's conflict of interest law.

The Lisbon Republican said the bill is aimed at helping township trustees by eliminating a ban on the sale of equipment to a political subdivision by a trustee.

The legislation was prompted, Wetzel said, by the resignation of Howard Adams, Salineville heavy machinery dealer, as a Washington Township trustee.

Wetzel said Adams was forced to quit his trustee's post in order to receive from County Auditor Kenneth Bell a voucher for highway equipment he sold to the county.

ing were found in the trunk of the auto.

Chief Lennens said Mrs. Frank Kennedy, 320 Louisiana Ave., an employe of Fineman's Department Store on Carolina Ave., was returning from lunch at 12:10 p. m. when she saw Sole remove two suitcases from a 1962 station wagon in front of the store.

Mrs. Kennedy was parking her auto when she witnessed the removal from the vehicle owned by Earl Koontz of Wheeling, a salesman for a Tennessee firm who was visiting at the store.

Chief Lennens said Sole placed the suitcases in a 1954 sedan owned by Stout, who was waiting in the auto, also parked in front of the store, and after Sole got in, Stout drove east on Carolina Ave.

Patrolman Bebout, on duty at the school crossing at Carolina Ave. and 6th St., said he saw the Stout car pass through the intersection at about 40 miles an hour, and he went to the City Hall where he received a call about the theft at 12:20 p. m.

Chief Lennens arrived at the City Hall at 12:30 on other business, but joined with Bebout in a search for the Stout auto at 1:20 p. m. when the indentification report arrived.

The two officers spotted Stout and his car on Washington School Rd. about 2:30 and halted him.

Chief Lennens did not have a warrant for Stout's arrest on the larceny charge, but told him he would cite him for speeding on Carolina Ave.

Lennens said Stout volunteered to go to the City Hall to be charged with speeding.

Stout was questioned at City Hall.

Bebout and Hancock Sheriff's Deputy Lester Wehner went to Sole's home and said they found some of the articles of stolen clothing.

Bebout and Lennens later returned to Sole's home, accompanied by Wehner, and arrested Sole.

A county deputy is required to be present when city officers make an arrest outside the city limits, Lennens explained.

After getting only four hits in 52 trips for a .077 average with the Mets, Don Zimmer batted .250 in 63 games with Cincinnati last season.

Rep. Wetzel Bill To Aid Township

State Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel introduced a bill in the House of Representatives today to repeal a section of the state's conflict of interest law.

The Lisbon Republican said the bill is aimed at helping township trustees by eliminating a ban on the sale of equipment to a political subdivision by a trustee.

The legislation was prompted, Wetzel said, by the resignation of Howard Adams, Salineville heavy machinery dealer, as a Washington Township trustee.

Wetzel said Adams was forced to quit his trustee's post in order to receive from County Auditor Kenneth Bell a voucher for highway equipment he sold to the county.

Theft

ing were found in the trunk of the auto.

Chief Lennens said Mrs. Frank Kennedy, 320 Louisiana Ave., an employe of Fineman's Department Store on Carolina Ave., was returning from lunch at 12:10 p. m. when she saw Sole remove two suitcases from a 1962 station wagon in front of the store.

Mrs. Kennedy was parking her auto when she witnessed the removal from the vehicle owned by Earl Koontz of Wheeling, a salesman for a Tennessee firm who was visiting at the store.

Chief Lennens said Sole placed the suitcases in a 1954 sedan owned by Stout, who was waiting in the auto, also parked in front of the store, and after Sole got in, Stout drove east on Carolina Ave.

Patrolman Bebout, on duty at the school crossing at Carolina Ave. and 6th St., said he saw the Stout car pass through the intersection at about 40 miles an hour, and he went to the City Hall where he received a call about the theft at 12:20 p. m.

Chief Lennens arrived at the City Hall at 12:30 on other business, but joined with Bebout in a search for the Stout auto at 1:29 p. m. when the indentification report arrived.

The two officers spotted Stout and his car on Washington School Rd. about 2:30 and halted him.

Chief Lennens did not have a warrant for Stout's arrest on the larceny charge, but told him he would cite him for speeding on Carolina Ave.

Lennens said Stout volunteered to go to the City Hall to be charged with speeding.

Stout was questioned at City Hall.

Bebout and Hancock Sheriff's Deputy Lester Wehner went to Sole's home and said they found some of the articles of stolen clothing.

Bebout and Lennens later returned to Sole's home, accompanied by Wehner, and arrested Sole.

A county deputy is required to be present when city officers make an arrest outside the city limits, Lennens explained.

After getting only four hits in 52 trips for a .077 average with the Mets, Don Zimmer batted .250 in 63 games with Cincinnati last season.

Sane Program For Mental Health

There is nothing in President Kennedy's mental health program that cannot be squared with the approaches to the problem being tried in progressive states.

He wants Congress to get into the progressive swing with a federal program that would start out easy at a few million a year but would balloon out rapidly as its breaucracy learned about compulsive spending.

The progressive swing—the bold new program, in New Frontier terminology—would disregard the stumbling block that has slowed mental health progress in the states. This is the difficulty of switching from a program of institutional care, which is less efficient and more expensive than it should be, to a program of prevention and intensive treatment, which is more efficient in the long run but also expensive to get under way.

THE NEW PROGRAM treats breakdowns in mental health like breakdowns in physical health—as aberrations curable in most instances and preventable, if detected in time.

To cure and prevent, however, requires treatment available presently in only the finest private hospitals and the most progressive public institutions. If the federal government added a new layer of personnel in the field of mental health it would be bidding for services of nonexistent psychiatrists, psychologists and nurses. If it succeeded in attracting them with higher pay, it would be robbing the states.

The Kennedy mental health proposals will be difficult to appraise. Criticism will seem to be a veiled attack on the proposal for dealing with the mental health problem according to the best modern practice.

It will be the same bind that centralizers of public power have rigged for those who question federal aid to education. They are made to appear as if they are opposing education, instead of federal intervention in education.

THERE WILL be a powerful appeal in the idea that the spending power of the federal government could be sprayed over mental health like manna from on high, nourishing what the states scarcely have been able to sustain with their limited taxing power. That's the gimmick in all proposals for putting the federal government into places formerly occupied solely by the states.

No one pays close attention to where federal revenue comes from, where it goes and how many billions are piled up in deficit spending, to conceal the fact Washington is unable to keep pace with its own spending rate.

So now, with a proposal to cut taxing and pile up larger deficits pending in Congress, the Kennedy administration proposes a bold new approach to the mental health problem.

Job Well Done

Floyd I. Lower, who will retire as Columbiana County extension agent this month after 38 years, can leave the office with the knowledge that he has performed creditably.

The county's farmers always have found a helping hand when they have turned to Lisbon for assistance.

Mr. Lower is recognized as an able organizer and has received statewide recognition for his activities in his chosen field.

In addition to his work as an extension agent, he always has been ready to do his part in worthwhile civic enterprises.

A Chance To Serve

Area Boy Scouts are joining in the observance of national Boy Scout Week which began today.

Scouting activities have been progressing along all fronts in the Columbiana Council as more and more youngsters take part in the movement which is observing its 53rd anniversary. There are 3,020 boys and leaders in the Council.

Any organization is only as strong and progressive as its leaders. Boy Scout units in the area have been blessed with men who have been devoted to the program they are helping to advance.

New adult leaders always are needed, however. If you have a sincere desire to aid in the wholesome development of young people, Scouting affords a wonderful opportunity.

That's The Way Things Are

The issues in Canadian politics are as obscure to most of us as tribal divisions in the Congo. But to the extent that Canada's parliamentary crisis was hastened by the brusque tone of a message from Washington to Ottawa about what was expected of the latter on the subject of nuclear armament, we can understand what may have happened.

It is similar to what happened when the Kennedy administration backed into the buzzsaw of French President Charles de Gaulle's determination to keep France from being overshadowed in nuclear capacity.

Pride and patriotism were affronted by a peremptory tone characteristic of the New Frontiersmen when dealing with problems they believe to be a little too tough for other people to grasp as easily as nimbler minds grasp them.

On these occasions, the Frontiersmen become impatient with their associates and show this in their words and inflection. In the case of the note to Ottawa that ruffled Canadian tempers, the author was reportedly McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to President Kennedy for national security.

Mr. Bundy is the former dean of the Harvard faculty of arts and sciences, honor graduate of Yale, authority on international relations, author of a book defending Dean Acheson, published in 1951, and one of a handful of Republicans to find seats on the New Frontier's prairie schooners.

An intellectual by nature, training and experience, Mr. Bundy might not have been as diplomatic as he needed to be in his language, just as President Kennedy may not have been as diplomatic as he needed to be in confronting President De Gaulle with the harsh realities of international nuclear politics.

These are young men in a hurry. Saving face for others is not one of their large concerns. They are disposed to get on with their work and no nonsense. That's the way things are in Washington these days. We've noticed it too and sometimes it gets under American skins.

If this is what happened in Canada, we beg forgiveness.

Our New Frontiersmen are in a hurry to get on with their project of carving out a better world. They do get brusque sometimes.

'Seeing Red' Justice

The Russians have a notable lack of humor and are heavy - handed in methods of enforcing their laws, but occasionally they come forth with a practice that many Americans must wish was employed on this side of the Atlantic.

For example, N. F. Ismerov, Soviet Union deputy health minister visiting Pissburgh this week, revealed that auto owners in Moscow are liable to a fine and loss of driver license if caught with a faulty muffler or excessive fumes from the exhaust.

The problem of air pollution, increasing throughout the nation, is present in East Liverpool at times. Smoke from home and industrial chimneys and fumes from trucks, buses and cars at times add up to offensive conditions in some parts of the city.

Motorists following vehicles which spew smoke and choking fumes may wish for Russian justice, but probably would settle for just plain clean air which proper maintenance would permit on our streets at all times.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

One of my private hunches is that if we voted on whether to permit people to fire guns at random in built-up areas the vote would be 10-1 unfavorable, which would put an end to the hunting carried on in suburbia. I think hunting as a sport should be restricted to official hunting preserves and will work toward this end if I am ever elected to public office.

In a lengthening lifetime of opening sacks by pulling that one little string which releases the chain stiching, I never have taken the time to find out which string to pull and am successful only by accident. Usually I fail and must cut the sack with a knife to get at the contents.

It is an oddity of our times that we take Canadian politics for granted in the United States, though the boys and girls up there go for the jugular and play for keeps the same as they do in countries that we watch with quivering consternation.

It would be all right with me, in view of the fact it hasn't snowed since I bought a snow blower if a committee of grateful neighbors wanted to chip in a few bucks apiece to reimburse me for what it cost to buy this form of snow insurance.

One way to learn how you look to other people is to study photographs of your friends — the kind that haven't been retouched and make your friends look as old as they — and you — are.

If we were to spend half as much ingenuity in figuring out how to increase efficiency in government as we spend in learning how to make steel and pretzels more efficiently, we wouldn't have to spend any ingenuity at all in figuring out how to sweat more revenue out of taxpayers.

The first premonition of Spring is when the lady you look out of windows with looks unhappy and says someone is going to have to stir his stumps and wash the windows pretty soon or nobody will be able to see through them. That's me, man — the stump-stirrer.

It's odd when you think abut it this soon after Christmas — that people you felt tender about while sending and receiving Christmas cards already have dropped out of sight and out of mind for another long year.

I will make a bet that if the truth came out many insurrections that are put down by government troops aren't that at all but purges of people who can be liquidated this way with a show of legality, whereas it would look like murder if they were transported into the hereafter merely for being opponents of the government.

If the New Frontiersmen asked my advice, I'd tell them as an old farm boy they are getting more hay down than they could expect to get into the haymow and that this is bad psychology in politics because it raises a suspicion they are long on dreaming and shorting on doing.

GOP Could Use Democrat Slogan Of '32

If the Republican party really wishes to defeat President Kennedy for reelection in 1964, maybe all that needs to be done is to take a page out of the campaign history of the Democrats.

David Lawrence

Plagiarism perhaps isn't satisfying—for most politicians like to be original — but a declaration of the Democratic party in one presidential campaign was so successful that its argument not only defeated the incumbent administration but it also won the electoral votes of nearly every state in the Union.

"Turn the spendthrifts out" was the battle cry in 1932. "Democrats pledge at least 25 per cent reduction in expenses" was the headline in protest against deficit spending.

These slogans were reproduced in advertising space in the newspapers throughout the land. Someone has just sent to this correspondent a faded but readable copy of that particular ad, which was sponsored by the Democratic National Campaign Committee and which helped to win the presidential election for Franklin D. Roosevelt, governor of New York, against President Hoover.

All one has to do is to substitute the name of the incumbent and multiply the deficit figures of those days by two or three times to bring them up to date.

A CHANGE of wording also is necessary to remind readers that it is the Democratic party which obtained majority control for the years from 1954 through 1964.

The pronouncement of 1932 started with this headline: "The public pays — your taxes and Republican extravagance." It then went on to say: When you groan under the burden of taxes:

"Remember that the deficit at the end of the last two years of Hooverism is around $4 billion —the greatest in peace time history.

"Remember that this huge deficit was not born overnight but the performances of the past two years have wiped out previous gains in the way of reducing our national debt and have brought it to the astounding total of $20 billion.

"Remember that though Republicans preached economy in 1920 and promised highest efficiency at lowest cost in 1928, government bills have mounted steadily. . . .

"Remember that although it was clear that our chief source of revenue, income taxes, would drop seriously and retrenchment was the watchword in every home and business, government spending kept merrily on at $5 million a day more than income.

"Remember that the 71st congress with a big Republican majority was in session from December 1930 until March 1931.

"Remember that a balanced budget as well as reconstruction plans had to await a Democratic majority in the House where all revenue measures must originate.

"Remember that Republican leadership has brought us to the verge of bankruptcy. . . .

"Democrats pledge at least 25 per cent reduction in expenses.

"Turn the spendthrifts out. Put responsible government in —elect Roosevelt and Garner.

"Issued by Democratic National Campaign Committee."

THIS WASN'T just a piece of Madison Avenue advertising literature. The Democratic platform, which was adopted at its national convention in Chicago in June 1932, read in part as follows:

"We favor maintenance of the national credit by a federal budget annually balanced on the basis of accurate executive estimates within revenues, raised by

A system of taxation levied on the principle of ability to pay. . . .

"We advocate an immediate and drastic reduction of governmental expenditures by abolishing useless commissions and offices, consolidating departments and bureaus and eliminating extravagance, to accomplish a saving of not less than 25 per cent in the cost of the federal government, and we call upon the Democratic party in the states to make a zealous effort to achieve a proportionate result."

The winning candidate, immediately on taking office, abandoned this whole concept. Failure to cooperate with the outgoing administration between election day in November 1932 and inauguration day, March 4, 1933, created confusion and fear. The result was that the banks had to close.

Then the new administration proceeded to pile up bigger deficits than its predecessor — a total of more than $20 billion at the end of eight years. The unemployment level was still at the 9.48 million mark in 1939 when war broke out in Europe. Then war orders for heavy goods began to spur the national economy.

THE SLOGANS protesting against deficits in the treasury, however, were good enough to win the election of 1932 by a landslide.

The people vote against a party in power when times are bad and blame it for current ills. The voters do become sympathetic to a new administration and its recovery programs, but the patience of the people is not unlimited.

The record shows that, no matter if the candidate of the opposition party happens to be relatively unknown or unqualified, he can defeat the incumbent administration if it has made a mess of taxes and budgets and hurt the credit of the country in the eyes of the world.

Memo To Moscow–'Making Great Progress Here. We've Brought Cuba's Standard Of Living Down To Ours.'

Reuther Urges Strike Seizure Power

By VICTOR RIESEL

During emergency strikes such as those which have been rocking the country these days, Walter Reuther wants the president of the United States to have the power to seize factories, operate the struck corporations, take over the profits, negotiate on wages and freeze prices.

Victor Riesel

Seizure of plants or other facilities during critical showdowns is one of the powers the president should have "in his arsenal," the redhead believes.

Reuther said rather challengingly that the struck installations should be seized whenever the government forces strikers to go back to work for 80 days under the Taft-Hartley law.

Reuther energetically expounded his policy on strikes and the public interest the other day in Washington. He had called in newsmen to announce his new, $4 million "comprehensive, cooperative, coordinated" drive to unionize the non-unionized in special target areas (as was predicted in this column).

PERSONALLY, I found him a different Walter Reuther — more restrained, more determined, better humored. But not less militant. His words jabbed. They did not slug.

Thus he was sharper. When we discussed the rolling strikes he did not swiftly retort as of old. He deliberated. Then he charged that the Taft-Hartley 80-day injunction deprived working people of the right to withhold their labor — and that, he asserted, was putting labor where it is behind the Soviet Iron Curtain.

It was then he added that equity calls for giving the President the power to seize industry and profits when labor is ordered back to work.

He had sharp words, too, for labor and its leadership. The union movement, he charged, is on "dead center." Now his new drive will try to get it off, and moving again.

REUTHER ADDED there has been no "will" for action among the national leadership — and he included himself.

Perhaps that latter was an afterthought to assuage the AFL-CIO's older leaders who will be angered by the charge. Perhaps it was swift nostalgia for the youthful militancy of the late '30s.

Whatever it was, he made certain he was telling us that a hard-hitting national drive is under way.

I twitted him about the sit-ins of a quarter of a century ago. We both know they are illegal now. But even if they weren't, the new drive would eschew the sit-downs, he indicated.

There will be new approaches. There will have to be. One of the drive's newest targets, it now develops, will be the 1½ million school teachers of America.

A special teachers' organizing task force, the first of its kind, has just been set up in New Jersey under Ed Gray, an official of the United Auto Workers, of which Reuther is president.

If this approach to the teachers of the land succeeds, it will be used among other white collar, technical and professional employes.

ALMOST unobserved by the public, the drives to unionize the teachers have started rolling. These are coordinated with the work of Charles Cogen, president of the new United Federation of Teachers, which brought 40,000 New York City school instructors into the AFL-CIO not too long ago.

New teacher targets are in the school systems of Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, Los Angeles, Detroit and Denver.

These are in addition to the "greater metropolitan" targets in five areas, and the special industry and Dupont drives.

Just how he would operate, Reuther would not elaborate. He said there would obviously have to be new techniques of reaching the public and the white collar workers. It is not like the old days. Reuther now would set no specific goal for the unionization of new members, estimate no victories.

HE DID lay out for us his modus operandi. There is a 10-point program reaching all the way from the selection of "organizing targets and allocation of plants," pooling of manpower on the basis of targets and priorities, budgets, publicity and the filing of National Labor Relations Board petitions for union representation inside the plants.

He has called a series of planning sessions — each dedicated to a region — all culminating in a full conference during the AFL-CIO high command mid-winter meeting in Bal Harbour, Fla., shortly.

Reuther is now committed, make or break, to a drive which would prove labor's "ability to expand and grow through the organizing of millions of unorganized workers . . ."

Reuther is on the march again. Soon we shall see where the parade goes.

Unprecedented Steps

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The rumpus over the size and kind of Soviet forces in Cuba lost much, if not all, of its steam today after the Kennedy administration took unprecedented steps to answer its severest critic on the issue.

Of first concern to Americans was the answer to this question: Are the Soviet forces in Cuba a threat to the United States?

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said no. To prove his case he made a two-hour television presentation late Wednesday, photographs and all, as evidence this country through aerial watch keeps a constant check on doings inside Cuba.

But Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., who had been charging the Russians were keeping offensive bases in Cuba, said McNamara had disputed none of his charges.

However, Keating had toned down some of them in an interview with The Associated Press published Wednesday in advance of the McNamara presentation. He agreed he doesn't think the Soviet weapons are poised against the United States or that an invasion is a threat.

And in the interview he backed down from a statement he made only a week ago that there is "continuing absolutely confirmed and undeniable evidence the Soviets are maintaining" the missile bases involved in last October's Cuban crisis with Premier Khrushchev.

He conceded in the interview that he was not talking about hard bases for intermediate range missiles. He said he knows those bases have been broken up.

But it was precisely those bases and those missiles, capable of hitting almost anywhere in the United States, which were involved last fall when Khrushchev backed down and pulled the missiles out.

Next question: Are the Soviet weapons of the kind that could be used for offensive purposes at all?

Again McNamara said no. And, when he said that, he included Soviet tanks, planes and certain kinds of missiles of very short range. He said the planes could not be used for bombing to back up an invasion.

He said "I am satisfied there are no offensive weapons in Cuba."

The most Keating could say on this was that he thinks the men and weapons present a threat.

Next question: Could the Soviet forces in Cuba, men and weapons, be an invasion threat to any Latin-American country? If they couldn't be an invasion threat they could hardly be any threat at all.

Once more McNamara said no. He gave his reason: That Fidel Castro doesn't have the kind of shipping necessary to move the Soviet equipment from Cuba to any other country.

Keating was very cautious on this one. He said he thinks the Soviet forces in Cuba are forming the "base of operations in other Latin-American countries." He said there were still bases in Cuba for missiles with a range of 1,000 miles.

(McNamara denied this. He said the only ground-to-ground missiles in Cuba will go less than 30 miles.)

But—Keating said he doesn't think it possible to launch a great invasion from Cuba against some Latin-American country although "it's possible to get personnel from Cuba to other Latin-American countries without our knowledge."

What then is left of Keating's warnings and misgivings about the Soviet men and arms in Cuba? Not much. He said the Soviets have at least 20,000 men in Cuba. McNamara said they did once have 22,000 but now have only 17,000 and that only 5,000 of them are in combat units.

Before McNamara went on the air the American intelligence chief, John A. McCone, gave senators a fill-in. Some of them later said the problem was "critical" or of "concern." That was before McNamara talked.

Last August Keating began warning of a Soviet buildup in Cuba. The Kennedy administration minimized his warnings then. But the buildup was real, as the administration found out and admitted later in its showdown with Khrushchev.

Sane Program For Mental Health

There is nothing in President Kennedy's mental health program that cannot be squared with the approaches to the problem being tried in progressive states.

He wants Congress to get into the progressive swing with a federal program that would start out easy at a few million a year but would balloon out rapidly as its breaucracy learned about compulsive spending.

The progressive swing—the bold new program, in New Frontier terminology—would disregard the stumbling block that has slowed mental health progress in the states. This is the difficulty of switching from a program of institutional care, which is less efficient and more expensive than it should be, to a program of prevention and intensive treatment, which is more efficient in the long run but also expensive to get under way.

THE NEW PROGRAM treats breakdowns in mental health like breakdowns in physical health—as aberrations curable in most instances and preventable, if detected in time.

To cure and prevent, however, requires treatment available presently in only the finest private hospitals and the most progressive public institutions. If the federal government added a new layer of personnel in the field of mental health it would be bidding for services of nonexistent psychiatrists, psychologists and nurses. If it succeeded in attracting them with higher pay, it would be robbing the states.

The Kennedy mental health proposals will be difficult to appraise. Criticism will seem to be a veiled attack on the proposal for dealing with the mental health problem according to the best modern practice.

It will be the same bind that centralizers of public power have rigged for those who question federal aid to education. They are made to appear as if they are opposing education, instead of federal intervention in education.

THERE WILL be a powerful appeal in the idea that the spending power of the federal government could be sprayed over mental health like manna from on high, nourishing what the states scarcely have been able to sustain with their limited taxing power. That's the gimmick in all proposals for putting the federal government into places formerly occupied solely by the states.

No one pays close attention to where federal revenue comes from, where it goes and how many billions are piled up in deficit spending, to conceal the fact Washington is unable to keep pace with its own spending rate.

So now, with a proposal to cut taxing and pile up larger deficits pending in Congress, the Kennedy administration proposes a bold new approach to the mental health problem.

Job Well Done

Floyd I. Lower, who will retire as Columbiana County extension agent this month after 38 years, can leave the office with the knowledge that he has performed creditably.

The county's farmers always have found a helping hand when they have turned to Lisbon for assistance.

Mr. Lower is recognized as an able organizer and has received statewide recognition for his activities in his chosen field.

In addition to his work as an extension agent, he always has been ready to do his part in worthwhile civic enterprises.

The extension office at Lisbon won't seem the same after Mr. Lower closes his desk Feb. 28.

A Chance To Serve

Area Boy Scouts are joining in the observance of national Boy Scout Week which began today.

Scouting activities have been progressing along all fronts in the Columbiana Council as more and more youngsters take part in the movement which is observing its 53rd anniversary. There are 3,020 boys and leaders in the Council.

Any organization is only as strong and progressive as its leaders. Boy Scout units in the area have been blessed with men who have been devoted to the program they are helping to advance.

New adult leaders always are needed, however. If you have a sincere desire to aid in the wholesome development of young people, Scouting affords a wonderful opportunity.

That's The Way Things Are

The issues in Canadian politics are as obscure to most of us as tribal divisions in the Congo. But to the extent that Canada's parliamentary crisis was hastened by the brusque tone of a message from Washington to Ottawa about what was expected of the latter on the subject of nuclear armament, we can understand what may have happened.

It is similar to what happened when the Kennedy administration backed into the buzzsaw of French President Charles de Gaulle's determination to keep France from being overshadowed in nuclear capacity.

Pride and patriotism were affronted by a peremptory tone characteristic of the New Frontiersmen when dealing with problems they believe to be a little too tough for other people to grasp as easily as nimbler minds grasp them.

On these occasions, the Frontiersmen become impatient with their associates and show this in their words and inflection. In the case of the note to Ottawa that ruffled Canadian tempers, the author was reportedly McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to President Kennedy for national security.

Mr. Bundy is the former dean of the Harvard faculty of arts and sciences, honor graduate of Yale, authority on international relations, author of a book defending Dean Acheson, published in 1951, and one of a handful of Republicans to find seats on the New Frontier's prairie schooners.

An intellectual by nature, training and experience, Mr. Bundy might not have been as diplomatic as he needed to be in his language, just as President Kennedy may not have been as diplomatic as he needed to be in confronting President De Gaulle with the harsh realities of international nuclear politics.

These are young men in a hurry. Saving face for others is not one of their large concerns. They are disposed to get on with their work and no nonsense. That's the way things are in Washington these days. We've noticed it too and sometimes it gets under American skins.

If this is what happened in Canada, we beg forgiveness.

Our New Frontiersmen are in a hurry to get on with their project of carving out a better world. They do get brusque sometimes.

'Seeing Red' Justice

The Russians have a notable lack of humor and are heavy - handed in methods of enforcing their laws, but occasionally they come forth with a practice that many Americans must wish was employed on this side of the Atlantic.

For example, N. F. Ismerov, Soviet Union deputy health minister visiting Pissburgh this week, revealed that auto owners in Moscow are liable to a fine and loss of driver license if caught with a faulty muffler or excessive fumes from the exhaust.

The problem of air pollution, increasing throughout the nation, is present in East Liverpool at times. Smoke from home and industrial chimneys and fumes from trucks, buses and cars at times add up to offensive conditions in some parts of the city.

Motorists following vehicles which spew smoke and choking fumes may wish for Russian justice, but probably would settle for just plain clean air which proper maintenance would permit on our streets at all times.

Purely Personal

One of my private hunches is that if we voted on whether to permit people to fire guns at random in built-up areas the vote would be 10-1 unfavorable, which would put an end to the hunting carried on in suburbia. I think hunting as a sport should be restricted to official hunting preserves and will work toward this end if I am ever elected to public office.

In a lengthening lifetime of opening sacks by pulling that one little string which releases the chain stiching, I never have taken the time to find out which string to pull and am successful only by accident. Usually I fail and must cut the sack with a knife to get at the contents.

It is an oddity of our times that we take Canadian politics for granted in the United States, though the boys and girls up there go for the jugular and play for keeps the same as they do in countries that we watch with quivering consternation.

It would be all right with me, in view of the fact it hasn't snowed since I bought a snow blower if a committee of grateful neighbors wanted to chip in a few bucks apiece to reimburse me for what it cost to buy this form of snow insurance.

One way to learn how you look to other people is to study photographs of your friends — the kind that haven't been retouched and make your friends look as old as they — and you — are.

If we were to spend half as much ingenuity in figuring out how to increase efficiency in government as we spend in learning how to make steel and pretzels more efficiently, we wouldn't have to spend any ingenuity at all in figuring out how to sweat more revenue out of taxpayers.

The first premonition of Spring is when the lady you look out of windows with looks unhappy and says someone is going to have to stir his stumps and wash the windows pretty soon or nobody will be able to see through them. That's me, man — the stump-stirrer.

It's odd when you think abut it this soon after Christmas — that people you felt tender about while sending and receiving Christmas cards already have dropped out of sight and out of mind for another long year.

I will make a bet that if the truth came out many insurrections that are put down by government troops aren't that at all but purges of people who can be liquidated this way with a show of legality, whereas it would look like murder if they were transported into the hereafter merely for being opponents of the government.

If the New Frontiersmen asked my advice, I'd tell them as an old farm boy they are getting more hay down than they could expect to get into the haymow and that this is bad psychology in politics because it raises a suspicion they are long on dreaming and shorting on doing.

GOP Could Use Democrat Slogan Of '32

If the Republican party really wishes to defeat President Kennedy for reelection in 1964, maybe all that needs to be done is to take a page out of the campaign history of the Democrats.

David Lawrence

Plagiarism perhaps isn't satisfying—for most politicians like to be original — but a declaration of the Democratic party in one presidential campaign was so successful that its argument not only defeated the incumbent administration but it also won the electoral votes of nearly every state in the Union.

"Turn the spendthrifts out" was the battle cry in 1932. "Democrats pledge at least 25 per cent reduction in expenses" was the headline in protest against deficit spending.

These slogans were reproduced in advertising space in the newspapers throughout the land. Someone has just sent to this correspondent a faded but readable copy of that particular ad, which was sponsored by the Democratic National Campaign Committee and which helped to win the presidential election for Franklin D. Roosevelt, governor of New York, against President Hoover.

All one has to do is to substitute the name of the incumbent and multiply the deficit figures of those days by two or three times to bring them up to date.

A CHANGE of wording also is necessary to remind readers that it is the Democratic party which obtained majority control for the years from 1954 through 1964.

The pronouncement of 1932 started with this headline: "The public pays — your taxes and Republican extravagance." It then went on to say: When you groan under the burden of taxes:

"Remember that the deficit at the end of the last two years of Hooverism is around $4 billion —the greatest in peace time history.

"Remember that this huge deficit was not born overnight but the performances of the past two years have wiped out previous gains in the way of reducing our national debt and have brought it to the astounding total of $20 billion.

"Remember that though Republicans preached economy in 1920 and promised highest efficiency at lowest cost in 1928, government bills have mounted steadily. . . .

"Remember that although it was clear that our chief source of revenue, income taxes, would drop seriously and retrenchment was the watchword in every home and business, government spending kept merrily on at $5 million a day more than income.

"Remember that the 71st congress with a big Republican majority was in session from December 1930 until March 1931.

"Remember that a balanced budget as well as reconstruction plans had to await a Democratic majority in the House where all revenue measures must originate.

"Remember that Republican leadership has brought us to the verge of bankruptcy. . . .

"Democrats pledge at least 25 per cent reduction in expenses.

"Turn the spendthrifts out. Put responsible government in —elect Roosevelt and Garner.

"Issued by Democratic National Campaign Committee."

THIS WASN'T just a piece of Madison Avenue advertising literature. The Democratic platform, which was adopted at its national convention in Chicago in June 1932, read in part as follows:

"We favor maintenance of the national credit by a federal budget annually balanced on the basis of accurate executive estimates within revenues, raised by

A system of taxation levied on the principle of ability to pay. . . .

"We advocate an immediate and drastic reduction of governmental expenditures by abolishing useless commissions and offices, consolidating departments and bureaus and eliminating extravagance, to accomplish a saving of not less than 25 per cent in the cost of the federal government, and we call upon the Democratic party in the states to make a zealous effort to achieve a proportionate result."

The winning candidate, immediately on taking office, abandoned this whole concept. Failure to cooperate with the outgoing administration between election day in November 1932 and inauguration day, March 4, 1933, created confusion and fear. The result was that the banks had to close.

Then the new administration proceeded to pile up bigger deficits than its predecessor — a total of more than $20 billion at the end of eight years. The unemployment level was still at the 9.48 million mark in 1939 when war broke out in Europe. Then war orders for heavy goods began to spur the national economy.

THE SLOGANS protesting against deficits in the treasury, however, were good enough to win the election of 1932 by a landslide.

The people vote against a party in power when times are bad and blame it for current ills. The voters do become sympathetic to a new administration and its recovery programs, but the patience of the people is not unlimited.

The record shows that, no matter if the candidate of the opposition party happens to be relatively unknown or unqualified, he can defeat the incumbent administration if it has made a mess of taxes and budgets and hurt the credit of the country in the eyes of the world.

Reuther Urges Strike Seizure Power

By VICTOR RIESEL

During emergency strikes such as those which have been rocking the country these days, Walter Reuther wants the president of the United States to have the power to seize factories, operate the struck corporations, take over the profits, negotiate on wages and freeze prices.

Victor Riesel

Seizure of plants or other facilities during critical showdowns is one of the powers the president should have "in his arsenal," the redhead believes.

Reuther said rather challengingly that the struck installations should be seized whenever the government forces strikers to go back to work for 80 days under the Taft-Hartley law.

Reuther energetically expounded his policy on strikes and the public interest the other day in Washington. He had called in newsmen to announce his new, $4 million "comprehensive, cooperative, coordinated" drive to unionize the non-unionized in special target areas (as was predicted in this column).

PERSONALLY, I found him a different Walter Reuther — more restrained, more determined, better humored. But not less militant. His words jabbed. They did not slug.

Council Race Created

The two last - minute filings made a four - way race for the Democratic nomination for Second Ward councilman.

In addition to Johnston and Pitts, the aspirants are: James F. Cunningham, 149 Reynolds St., an employe in the production and planning department at Crucible, and James W. Young, 714 Laura Ave., an employe of the Potters Supply Co.

On the Republican slate, Councilman Kenneth C. Berg, 730 Bradshaw Ave., is bidding for a second term in the Second Ward. The last - minute entry of Youst made it a two - way race for the nomination. A World War II veteran, Berg is a liner at the Homer Laughlin China Co.

The late entry of Morris assured a three - way race for the Democratic nomination for Third Ward councilman. Earlier entries were Donald E. Smith of Woodbine Ave., Gardendale, a Crucible employe who served in the same post in 1960-61, and Albert J. Garvey of Canton St., an employe of the plant protection department at Crucible.

Both Republicans and Democrats have a two-way race for the nomination for Fourth Ward councilman.

Seeks Second Term

On the Democratic ticket, Councilman Edward B. Massey of Ceramic St., a Crucible millwright, is bidding for a second term, opposed by William E. Davis, 713 Edwards Ave., a Crucible Employe for 18 years.

On the Republican slate, the candidate are Robert G. Duncan, 575 Williams Ave., who formerly served two terms in the same post, and Elwyn G. Shenkel, 825 Northside Ave., a kilnplacer at Laughlin's.

There also is a two-way race for the Democratic nomination for First Ward councilman.

Councilman Floyd L. Murray, 1709 Etruria St., is seeking a second term, opposed by Crawford Price, 1187 Erie St., an employe in the construction department at Crucible and president of the United Progressive Council.

The GOP First Ward candidate is unopposed. He is William O. Grimm, 457 1st Ave., a carpenter at Laughlin's.

Auditor Race Set

The filing deadline passed without any new entries for the Republican nomination for city auditor — leaving a three - way race.

The aspirants are E. Allan McKeever, 218 W. 7th St., who served as mayor two years and auditor 14 years; Council Clerk Lawrence Zollinger, 108 W. 5th St., a retired Crucible clerical employe, and Gale W. Laughlin of Midway Ln., payroll supervisor at Crucible.

Republicans have no candidate for solicitor. The Democratic candidate for city treasurer is unopposed. He is Leo Payne of Riverside Park, a retired pipe-fitter at Crucible and chairman of his party's City Central Committee.

The Election Board listed a total of 167 candidates for the primaries in seven cities and villages, more than 30 short of the over 200 who filed for the last comparable election in 1961.

The reduction was accounted for in part by the fact three villages will elect only two councilmen this year, compared with six at the preceding election.

The Election Board has set a meeting Monday at 2 p. m. to grant ballot places to all candidates whose petitions meet legal requirements and to award contracts for ballots for the primaries and for poll books for both the primary and general elections.

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

'Nobody Believes I Talk This Way'

When Jackie Mason is not speaking in the highly educated tones of Adlai Stevenson or the blocked - nostril accents of the Kennedy clan, he sounds like himself — that is, like a fellow at the pickle stall in a kosher delicatessen.

Alan Gill

"People can not believe I was born in this country," he tells you in his frozen-faced, frozen-lipped way, his chin balanced squarely on his sternum.

"They listen, they think I'm acting just for them. But? Despite this voice, I can do impersonations.

"ED SULLIVAN: he's my only animated impersonation. For the rest of my act, I don't budge. I do Adlai, Kennedy. Kennedy's easy. People who can do nothing else, they can do him."

Mason will show up on "The Ed Sullivan Show" early next month for a short comedy spot, and he will do a study in perpetual inanimation for Jack Paar Friday night.

He's still relatively new to the comedy profession, as may be suggested by the title of the album he made six months ago, "I'm the Greatest Comedian in the World, Only Nobody Knows it Yet."

A second album, "I'd Like To Leave You With the Words of the Great Comedian, Jackie Mason," is coming out in a few days.

"I can't stop it," Mason says.

MASON IS the son of a rabbi. His three older brothers are rabbis. His three younger sisters married rabbis. And Mason himself, for a couple of years, was a rabbi.

"I didn't want to be one," he says now. "I didn't feel it. I wasn't dedicated, wasn't ready for the temple. Papa, I didn't want to tell him and disturb his equilibrium.

"He died five years ago without knowing I was going into comedy. He wanted to believe I was staying a rabbi. Well? I helped him believe it.

"My brothers were ashamed of me at first, hated it. A sinful existence, comedy! A phantom, sick world! But now I'm coming along and they're proud, thrilled. They're taking this work I'm in out of the booshes. Out of the closet and onto the dresser.

"IN MY SERMONS, I used to throw in some light stuff. A little comedy. There were 50 people and then suddenly there were 200 — this congregation I had in Weldon, N.C. — and I'd notice Gentiles standing there along the walls.

"At first, as a comic, I played everything, everywhere. Bar Mitzvahs. Weddings. Knights of Pythias. Army camps. Ku Klux Klan meetings. I couldn't afford a sheet and came in a pillow case. I couldn't afford a pillow case and was standin' there knitting one.

"Wherever two people came together I did an act. Once I got another guy and we were a team. A team! Huh! It lasted one and a half hours, that team.

"We played in one place and stunk. We played in another place and stunk again. I said to myself, 'What are you, botherin' people?' I've been a single ever since.

"TWO YEARS AGO I appeared at the Slate Brothers club in Los Angeles and Steve Allen heard about me from Jan Murray, so Steve put me on his television show. He got the greatest bunch of letters he ever got and I was back on two weeks later.

"That's the way it's gone ever since. Ed Sullivan. I hear I'm Ed Sullivan's favorite comic. He gives me $5,000 a show. Tops!

"I'm working on a routine now for the Sullivan show, about taking a girl to dinner. I sit around all day, working it in my head. Then I try it on some friends, then in a night club. (I'm at the Copacabana now.) Then, finally, it's ready for those six minutes on television.

"Six minutes! What if I stink for the first two minutes? Then I stink for the other four, too. It's not like having an hour to work in. And Sullivan's show, not like the 'Tonight' show, has a formality, with Ed just standing there watching. Cold."

MASON'S on-screen personality, according to the man himself, is that of "an innocent guy, amazed at the practical problems of a world he can't deal with."

But off - screen, this burgeoning comic seems — at least to one observer — extremely unamazed; and innocence, as Mae West once muttered, doesn't have an awful lot to do with it.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Ex-Smokers Can Avoid Weight Gain

Is there no escaping embonpoint when a person stops smoking? The disconcerting fact that so many former smokers have piled on pounds galore lends credence to the widespread belief that a gain is obligatory.

Ida Jean Kain

Let's examine the scientific facts. There is evidence that smoking mildly depresses the appetite. This being true, when you stop smoking, food tastes better, the taste buds are sharper. But the increase in appetite is temporary, it can be controlled and weight gain averted.

Are you game to accept a challenge? It's easier to keep the pounds off than it will be to take them off. Take the attitude that you do not need to pile on pounds, and you can hold the weight-line. The power of an attitude is amazing.

WHAT TO DO? Step up stick-to-the-ribs foods, especially protein foods. Keep carbohydrates low. As a rule, sweets are increased when a person stops smoking.

Therein lies the trouble, for sweets whet the appetite for more sweets. Sweets are quickly burned, and rapidly force the blood sugar level up, which in turn stimulates the secretion of insulin.

This terrific stimulus to insulin production is followed by a hunger rebound — and the cycle is repeated.

Protein, on the other hand, stays by you longer, helps sustain blood sugar levels and staves off hunger. There is better satiety carry-over when a complete protein food is eaten at each of the three meals, starting with breakfast.

The morning meal should include an egg or a piece of lean meat, plus a slice of toast, fruit or juice and coffee. If you sweeten your coffee, use a non-nutritive sweetener.

Lunch can include two protein foods, hot soup made with skim milk, and a serving of fish or lean meat, plus a salad. Or have a generous serving of cottage cheese with the salad. At dinner, a liberal serving of lean meat or chicken or fish should be the backbone of the menu.

Have a couple of vegetables, plus a potato or a roll. Fruit and coffee for dessert.

Late afternoon is a vulnerable spot. To prevent energy drag, have a pickup, but not a sweet.

One gal, determined to ward off a gain, brought her weight to ideal before she stopped smoking, which meant reducing 12 pounds.

THIS STRATEGY enabled her to control her appetite, for she had first cut her appetite down to slimming size.

Will those who have hit upon plans to help hold the weight line at this special time, share with us?

Scouts To Hold Rededication Ceremony For Observances

Units of the Columbiana Boy Scout Council will hold annual rededication ceremonies Friday in observance of Boy Scout Week which began today.

The ceremony will be held at unit meetings, patrol sessions or at members' homes as they renew their pledge to live up to the scout oath or law.

Observing the 53rd anniversary under the theme of "Strengthen America. . .Be Prepared, Be Fit," the 3,020 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Explorers and adult volunteer leaders of the Columbiana Council are participating in the observance.

Howard Firestone of Salem, council president, said the highlight of the anniversary will be "open house" meetings conducted by the various units in the district.

One emphasis of this year's scout week, which ends next Wednesday, is on the fitness activities of the movement and the progress made in its "Fit-for-Tomorrow" program.

Sunday, members in uniform will accompany their parents to church services to receive religious awards presented by their congregations for their knowledge of the history of their religion, participation in religious activities, and services in special projects assigned by their minister, priest or rabbi.

In recognition of the scouting birthday, a number of merchants have given scouts the use of their store windows and shopping centers for display of the handicraft items they have made and to demonstrate some of the skills they acquire, Firestone said.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Mother Ruled By Her Young Daughter

A mother with more than average intelligence and education writes from Connecticut about her daughter, eight. There also is a daughter, 19, and a son, 22.

Dr. Garry Meyers

"The only way I can be sure of her going to school is to walk her right to the door of her room. Many times she has come home again. She refuses to eat breakfast on a school morning. If she does eat it, she upchucks. "I walk, as there is no car. I enjoy the walk and need the exercise and do not begrudge the time it takes. It's just that I know it isn't normal and I think about what neighbors and other mothers must think and say.

—:—

"SHE SAYS NO ONE bothers her, that she likes the teacher and the children. Her marks are wonderful and she is well - behaved. I have tried talking, bribing, scolding, shaming — everything. Believe me, it's making a wreck out of me."

Here is how I replied to this mother:

My guess is that you have let that daughter lord it over you, making you wait on her hand and foot and that she has not learned to amuse herself and have normal enjoyment with other children her age.

On a school morning, if she doesn't want to eat breakfast, don't urge her. Act as if it doesn't matter at all to you. She won't starve. If she wishes, you could give her a sandwich to eat when she's hungry.

Instead of taking this girl to school, try to attract one or two of her classmates who live nearby to drop in for her, or have your husband or daughter go with her. You certainly should not.

—:—

IF, AFTER SHE is taken to school, she returns home before school ends, require her to sit, doing nothing, until the end of the school day, giving her a recess every half hour for five minutes. Be exacting on this.

If she says she is sick, put her to bed and don't pay much attention to her. Let her stay there all night.

Help her attract friends of her age to your home. Assign her some regular chores she can't escape.

In the meantime, I hope you enjoy her when all is well.

My bulletins, "The Very Selfish Child" and "Self-Reliance", may be secured by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

'Nobody Believes I Talk This Way'

When Jackie Mason is not speaking in the highly educated tones of Adlai Stevenson or the blocked - nostril accents of the Kennedy clan, he sounds like himself — that is, like a fellow at the pickle stall in a kosher delicatessen.

Alan Gill

"People can not believe I was born in this country," he tells you in his frozen-faced, frozen-lipped way, his chin balanced squarely on his sternum.

"They listen, they think I'm acting just for them. But? Despite this voice, I can do impersonations.

"ED SULLIVAN: he's my only animated impersonation. For the rest of my act, I don't budge. I do Adlai, Kennedy. Kennedy's easy. People who can do nothing else, they can do him."

Mason will show up on "The Ed Sullivan Show" early next month for a short comedy spot, and he will do a study in perpetual inanimation for Jack Paar Friday night.

He's still relatively new to the comedy profession, as may be suggested by the title of the album he made six months ago, "I'm the Greatest Comedian in the World, Only Nobody Knows it Yet."

A second album, "I'd Like To Leave You With the Words of the Great Comedian, Jackie Mason," is coming out in a few days.

"I can't stop it," Mason says.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Ex-Smokers Can Avoid Weight Gain

Is there no escaping embonpoint when a person stops smoking? The disconcerting fact that so many former smokers have piled on pounds galore lends credence to the widespread belief that a gain is obligatory.

Ida Jean Kain

Let's examine the scientific facts. There is evidence that smoking mildly depresses the appetite. This being true, when you stop smoking, food tastes better, the taste buds are sharper. But the increase in appetite is temporary, it can be controlled and weight gain averted.

Are you game to accept a challenge? It's easier to keep the pounds off than it will be to take them off. Take the attitude that you do not need to pile on pounds, and you can hold the weight-line. The power of an attitude is amazing.

WHAT TO DO? Step up stick-to-the-ribs foods, especially protein foods. Keep carbohydrates low. As a rule, sweets are increased when a person stops smoking.

Therein lies the trouble, for sweets whet the appetite for more sweets. Sweets are quickly burned, and rapidly force the blood sugar level up, which in turn stimulates the secretion of insulin.

This terrific stimulus to insulin production is followed by a hunger rebound — and the cycle is repeated.

Protein, on the other hand, stays by you longer, helps sustain blood sugar levels and staves off hunger. There is better satiety carry-over when a complete protein food is eaten at each of the three meals, starting with breakfast.

The morning meal should include an egg or a piece of lean meat, plus a slice of toast, fruit or juice and coffee. If you sweeten your coffee, use a non-nutritive sweetener.

Lunch can include two protein foods, hot soup made with skim milk, and a serving of fish or lean meat, plus a salad. Or have a generous serving of cottage cheese with the salad. At dinner, a liberal serving of lean meat or chicken or fish should be the backbone of the menu.

Have a couple of vegetables, plus a potato or a roll. Fruit and coffee for dessert.

Late afternoon is a vulnerable spot. To prevent energy drag, have a pickup, but not a sweet.

One gal, determined to ward off a gain, brought her weight to ideal before she stopped smoking, which meant reducing 12 pounds.

THIS STRATEGY enabled her to control her appetite, for she had first cut her appetite down to slimming size.

Will those who have hit upon plans to help hold the weight line at this special time, share with us?

Scouts To Hold Rededication Ceremony For Observances

Units of the Columbiana Boy Scout Council will hold annual rededication ceremonies Friday in observance of Boy Scout Week which began today.

The ceremony will be held at unit meetings, patrol sessions or at members' homes as they renew their pledge to live up to the scout oath or law.

Observing the 53rd anniversary under the theme of "Strengthen America. . .Be Prepared, Be Fit," the 3,020 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Explorers and adult volunteer leaders of the Columbiana Council are participating in the observance.

Howard Firestone of Salem, council president, said the highlight of the anniversary will be "open house" meetings conducted by the various units in the district.

One emphasis of this year's scout week, which ends next Wednesday, is on the fitness activities of the movement and the progress made in its "Fit-for-Tomorrow" program.

Sunday, members in uniform will accompany their parents to church services to receive religious awards presented by their congregations for their knowledge of the history of their religion, participation in religious activities, and services in special projects assigned by their minister, priest or rabbi.

In recognition of the scouting birthday, a number of merchants have given scouts the use of their store windows and shopping centers for display of the handicraft items they have made and to demonstrate some of the skills they acquire, Firestone said.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Mother Ruled By Her Young Daughter

A mother with more than average intelligence and education writes from Connecticut about her daughter, eight. There also is a daughter, 19, and a son, 22.

Dr. Garry Meyers

"The only way I can be sure of her going to school is to walk her right to the door of her room. Many times she has come home again. She refuses to eat breakfast on a school morning. If she does eat it, she upchucks. "I walk, as there is no car. I enjoy the walk and need the exercise and do not begrudge the time it takes. It's just that I know it isn't normal and I think about what neighbors and other mothers must think and say.

—:—

"SHE SAYS NO ONE bothers her, that she likes the teacher and the children. Her marks are wonderful and she is well - behaved. I have tried talking, bribing, scolding, shaming — everything. Believe me, it's making a wreck out of me."

Here is how I replied to this mother:

My guess is that you have let that daughter lord it over you, making you wait on her hand and foot and that she has not learned to amuse herself and have normal enjoyment with other children her age.

On a school morning, if she doesn't want to eat breakfast, don't urge her. Act as if it doesn't matter at all to you. She won't starve. If she wishes, you could give her a sandwich to eat when she's hungry.

Instead of taking this girl to school, try to attract one or two of her classmates who live nearby to drop in for her, or have your husband or daughter go with her. You certainly should not.

—:—

IF, AFTER SHE is taken to school, she returns home before school ends, require her to sit, doing nothing, until the end of the school day, giving her a recess every half hour for five minutes. Be exacting on this.

If she says she is sick, put her to bed and don't pay much attention to her. Let her stay there all night.

Help her attract friends of her age to your home. Assign her some regular chores she can't escape.

In the meantime, I hope you enjoy her when all is well.

My bulletins, "The Very Selfish Child" and "Self-Reliance", may be secured by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Only 3 Races Due In Salem Primary Vote

Apathetic primary balloting looms at Salem May 7, as only three contests developed on the tickets of the two major parties when the filing deadline for municipal offices passed Wednesday at 4 p. m. at the County Election Board's office.

Mayor Dean B. Cranmer, Democrat, was left unopposed for renomination. His Republican opponent, Nathan Harris, also has no contest.

The GOP will settle two races—only one of them involving citywide balloting. It pits Scott McCorkhill and Thomas H. Coe for the nomination for solicitor. There also is a GOP race for the nomination for Fourth Ward councilman. Candidates are Richard L. Cobourn and Michael Schuller.

The Democratic party's only contest is for the nomination for Fourth Ward councilman.

Under Ohio's "no contest" law, that means only a partial Democratic primary will be held in Salem.

The law provides if there are no citywide contests — only a race within a ward — then the party primary need be held only in the affected ward.

So Fourth Ward residents will be the only Salem Democrats balloting May 7. The Council candidates are Robert Straub and Arnold W. Kovach.

Here's a complete list of the candidates:

REPUBLICAN

Mayor: Nathan Harris.
Council President: Rudolph M. Linder.
Auditor: Helen R. Coyne.
Treasurer: George C. Equizi.
Solicitor: Scott McCorkhill and Thomas H. Coe.
Council - at - large: John E. Rance, Ralph K. Zimmerman and Joyce S. Wilson.
First Ward: Robert G. Hanna.
Second Ward: Charles Gibbs.
Third Ward: Thomas B. Smith.
Fourth Ward: Richard L. Cobourn and Michael Schuller.

DEMOCRATS

Mayor: Dean B. Cranmer.
Council President: Ford Joseph Jr.
Auditor: Donald W. DeJane.
Treasurer: Donald H. Mathews Jr.
Solicitor: No candidate.
Council-at-large: James G. Aldom, S. Elden Yates and Virgil E. Klepper.
First Ward: Albert Lesch.
Second Ward: No candidate.
Third Ward: Harold J. Astry.
Fourth Ward: Robert C. Straub and Arnold W. Kovach.

The group will tour the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. at its meeting March 4.

Named were Marion Chaney of Pearl St. for the First Ward and Ralph Morrison of Ridge Ave. for the Second Ward.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: I have just become the mother of triplets! I would like to tell all mothers that our first two babies were a set of twins, so now I have five babies in diapers!

With five babies in diapers at once, I think I have found the solution to the soiled diapers which usually stack up when only one child is around.

Naturally, I have many loads of laundry to do each day. I found that my washing machine itself is by far the best place to keep, soak, and get the soiled diapers pail out of the bedroom or nursery.

When I get through with my last load of laundry each day ... I fill the washing machine with cool water and add a bit of a pine-type deodorant.

As each diaper is removed from baby, I rinse it and run to the washing machine and throw it into this solution. Each morning all I do is set my machine to spin dry and then start it to wash. When soaking diapers read the directions on the bottle of any type deodorant you use.

This saves me lifting a heavy diaper pail, odors in the house, and last but not least, my energy which is needed most with five babies in the house.

LOVING MOTHER.

I send five kisses "XXXXX"! And a big squeeze for you.

HELOISE.

Rejuvenated Spuds

DEAR HELOISE: Here a use for leftover mashed potatoes: Boil only enough new potatoes so that the fresh ones and the leftover ones will be enough for your meal.

When the potatoes that you are boiling are done, but not soft, and the water has almost boiled away, add the leftover potatoes to the boiling ones ... just long enough to heat through!

Drain and mash as usual. I always leave a small amount of water on my potatoes, rather than milk, and add butter. You would never guess there were any leftovers being served!

JOAN AMMERMAN.

DEAR HELOISE: When baking a pie with a meringue top, if you will score the intended slices just through the depth of the meringue before placing it in the oven or under the broiler to brown, it will not tear or stick to the knife when you later cut the pie for serving!

IDA GUDISWITZ.

DEAR HELOISE: We remove tar which has been tracked onto our hardwood floors, by rubbing the tar gently with dried baking soda and sweeping up the mixture when finished.

K. STREET.

Crumb Blender

DEAR HELOISE: My mother occasionally runs out of bread crumbs. Here's what she did the last time this happened:

She had a bag of prepared stuffing — the kind which is already mixed and seasoned — and she put this in her blender until it was finely ground up and used this for bread crumbs.

The chops tasted so good when breaded with this mixture that now we always have pork chops, veal chops, and so forth breaded with finely ground herb stuffing.

AUDREY MALLINAK.

Now, isn't this just the greatest?

If one would like this mixture to bread her chops in — she could save her stale bread and throw in a little sage or poultry seasoning!

And while we're on this subject, if you ever need stale bread and do not have any, it is best cooked by laying it on the racks in your oven without foil. When the oven is turned on, the bread dries out thoroughly from both sides and makes it ever so crisp.

HELOISE.

Salem Hospital Addition Slated

SALEM — Construction is tentatively scheduled to begin in the spring on a $621,000 three - story addition to City Hospital, increasing its capacity to 146 beds in a bid to relieve overcrowding.

A grant of $141,000 under the Hill-Burton Act — a hospital aid measure — and a $99,000 grant from the Public Works Acceleration Program have been authorized by federal authorites to assist in financing the project.

Plans for the addition, to be erected at the southeast corner of the present building, have been prepared by Inscho, Brand & Inscho, Columbus architects, and bids will be sought at once, Atty. South Metzger, president of the hospital board, said.

The hospital, built in 1913, has 109 beds and bassinets for 24 babies at present. The new 72-room addition will be built over part of the present supply room and abutments and revamping during construction will cut 18 beds from the present capacity, Robert Rice, administrator, said.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: I have just become the mother of triplets! I would like to tell all mothers that our first two babies were a set of twins, so now I have five babies in diapers!

With five babies in diapers at once, I think I have found the solution to the soiled diapers which usually stack up when only one child is around.

Naturally, I have many loads of laundry to do each day. I found that my washing machine itself is by far the best place to keep, soak, and get the soiled diapers pail out of the bedroom or nursery.

When I get through with my last load of laundry each day . . . I fill the washing machine with cool water and add a bit of a pine-type deodorant.

As each diaper is removed from baby, I rinse it and run to the washing machine and throw it into this solution. Each morning all I do is set my machine to spin dry and then start it to wash. When soaking diapers read the directions on the bottle of any type deodorant you use.

This saves me lifting a heavy diaper pail, odors in the house, and last but not least, my energy which is needed most with five babies in the house.

LOVING MOTHER.

I send five kisses "XXXXX"! And a big squeeze for you.

HELOISE.

Rejuvenated Spuds

DEAR HELOISE: Here a use for leftover mashed potatoes: Boil only enough new potatoes so that the fresh ones and the leftover ones will be enough for your meal.

When the potatoes that you are boiling are done, but not soft, and the water has almost boiled away, add the leftover potatoes to the boiling ones . . . just long enough to heat through!

Drain and mash as usual. I always leave a small amount of water on my potatoes, rather than milk, and add butter. You would never guess there were any leftovers being served!

JOAN AMMERMAN.

DEAR HELOISE: When baking a pie with a meringue top, if you will score the intended slices just through the depth of the meringue before placing it in the oven or under the broiler to brown, it will not tear or stick to the knife when you later cut the pie for serving!

IDA GUDISWITZ.

DEAR HELOISE: We remove tar which has been tracked onto our hardwood floors, by rubbing the tar gently with dried baking soda and sweeping up the mixture when finished.

K. STREET.

Crumb Blender

DEAR HELOISE: My mother occasionally runs out of bread crumbs. Here's what she did the last time this happened:

She had a bag of prepared stuffing — the kind which is already mixed and seasoned — and she put this in her blender until it was finely ground up and used this for bread crumbs.

The chops tasted so good when breaded with this mixture that now we always have pork chops, veal chops, and so forth breaded with finely ground herb stuffing.

AUDREY MALLINAK.

Now, isn't this just the greatest?

If one would like this mixture to bread her chops in — she could save her stale bread and throw in a little sage or poultry seasoning!

And while we're on this subject, if you ever need stale bread and do not have any, it is best cooked by laying it on the racks in your oven without foil. When the oven is turned on, the bread dries out thoroughly from both sides and makes it ever so crisp.

HELOISE.

Salem Hospital Addition Slated

SALEM — Construction is tentatively scheduled to begin in the spring on a $621,000 three - story addition to City Hospital, increasing its capacity to 146 beds in a bid to relieve overcrowding.

A grant of $141,000 under the Hill-Burton Act — a hospital aid measure — and a $99,000 grant from the Public Works Acceleration Program have been authorized by federal authorites to assist in financing the project.

Plans for the addition, to be erected at the southeast corner of the present building, have been prepared by Inscho, Brand & Inscho, Columbus architects, and bids will be sought at once, Atty. South Metzger, president of the hospital board, said.

The hospital, built in 1913, has 109 beds and bassinets for 24 babies at present. The new 72-room addition will be built over part of the present supply room and abutments and revamping during construction will cut 18 beds from the present capacity, Robert Rice, administrator, said.

City GOP Seen Victorious With 'Proper Campaign'

A Republican victory in East Liverpool can be accomplished if the city GOP organizes and conducts a proper campaign, Robert Bell of Steubenville, 18th District committeeman, told the Area Men's Republican Club Wednesday night at the Potters Savings & Loan Co. annex.

Bell pointed to Republican victories in 1961 in Steubenville and Bellaire, formerly Democratic strongholds, as examples of what can be accomplished by organization.

He urged the men's organization to seek participation of the women's group, which can provide volunteer workers, and also emphasized the need for the club to work actively to insure that all Republicans in the city are qualified to vote.

Most of the Republican candidates at the party primary on May 7 attended and spoke briefly. The club approved all candidates but made no endorsements.

Harold Allison urged the club to present a united campaign for the November general election in which those defeated for the party nominations work for the ticket. Robert Miller of WOHI also spoke.

The bylaws and constitution were adopted after being read by Richard Johnston, secretary. David Sakol, treasurer, reported a balance of $138.

Boso led the flag salute with the invocation by the Rev. John Stilts, pastor of the Orchard Grove Community Methodist Church. The benediction was by Sheridan Leasure, club chaplain. Lunch was served.

Midland Man Arrested For Knifing Case

Winston (Churchill) Twyman, 39, of 444 Midland Ave., Midland, was taken into custody Wednesday night at Midland by Lt. W. E. McDaniel of East Liverpool on a charge he wounded a 21-year-old East End man with a knife Saturday night.

Twyman, known at first only by his nickname, had been sought by the local department since Saturday about 6 p. m., when Miley Jenrett, 505 Virginia Ave., was wounded in his home.

Arraigned this morning before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a felony charge of assault with a dangerous weapon, Twyman requested a continuance to allow time to obtain counsel. Judge Chertoff set his hearing Monday at 9 a. m. and fixed bond at $1,000.

No plea was entered on the charge, which Jenrett signed Wednesday in Municipal Court.

Police said Jenrett suffered four superficial lacerations of the left temple and chin, two deep puncture wounds of the upper left thigh and a superficial wound, also in the left thigh. He was released after treatment at City Hospital.

In a statement which he gave police shortly after the wounding, Jenrett said he knew his assailant by his nickname — "Churchill." In the affidavit alleging the offense, the defendant was listed as Winston (Churchill) Twyman. Questioned by the judge, Twyman said "Churchill" is a nickname.

Patrolman Samuel E. Hayes made the initial investigation of the alleged wounding. He said when he arrived at Jenrett's home the alleged assailant could not be found.

Junior Legion Group Elects At Hookstown

Patty Waugaman was elected chaplain by the junior auxiliary of Hookstown American Legion Post 952 at a meeting Monday night.

Karen Scott, chairman, presided. Eight attended. Plans were made to collect toys for an orphanage and to construct Easter basket favors for a veterans hospital.

Lunch was served by Delores Rommes and Miss Scott. Mrs. Ruth Leeper, chairman, and Mrs. Ruth Trimble, co-chairman, attended. Next meeting is March 4.

City GOP Seen Victorious With 'Proper Campaign'

A Republican victory in East Liverpool can be accomplished if the city GOP organizes and conducts a proper campaign, Robert Bell of Steubenville, 18th District committeeman, told the Area Men's Republican Club Wednesday night at the Potters Savings & Loan Co. annex.

Bell pointed to Republican victories in 1961 in Steubenville and Bellaire, formerly Democratic strongholds, as examples of what can be accomplished by organization.

He urged the men's organization to seek participation of the women's group, which can provide volunteer workers, and also emphasized the need for the club to work actively to insure that all Republicans in the city are qualified to vote.

Most of the Republican candidates at the party primary on May 7 attended and spoke briefly. The club approved all candidates but made no endorsements.

Harold Allison urged the club to present a united campaign for the November general election in which those defeated for the party nominations work for the ticket. Robert Miller of WOHI also spoke.

The bylaws and constitution were adopted after being read by Richard Johnston, secretary. David Sakol, treasurer, reported a balance of $138.

Boso led the flag salute with the invocation by the Rev. John Stilts, pastor of the Orchard Grove Community Methodist Church. The benediction was by Sheridan Leasure, club chaplain. Lunch was served.

Midland Man Arrested For Knifing Case

Winston (Churchill) Twyman, 39, of 444 Midland Ave., Midland, was taken into custody Wednesday night at Midland by Lt. W. E. McDaniel of East Liverpool on a charge he wounded a 21-year-old East End man with a knife Saturday night.

Twyman, known at first only by his nickname, had been sought by the local department since Saturday about 6 p. m., when Miley Jenrett, 505 Virginia Ave., was wounded in his home.

Arraigned this morning before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a felony charge of assault with a dangerous weapon, Twyman requested a continuance to allow time to obtain counsel. Judge Chertoff set his hearing Monday at 9 a. m. and fixed bond at $1,000.

No plea was entered on the charge, which Jenrett signed Wednesday in Municipal Court.

Police said Jenrett suffered four superficial lacerations of the left temple and chin, two deep puncture wounds of the upper left thigh and a superficial wound, also in the left thigh. He was released after treatment at City Hospital.

In a statement which he gave police shortly after the wounding, Jenrett said he knew his assailant by his nickname — "Churchill." In the affidavit alleging the offense, the defendant was listed as Winston (Churchill) Twyman. Questioned by the judge, Twyman said "Churchill" is a nickname.

Patrolman Samuel E. Hayes made the initial investigation of the alleged wounding. He said when he arrived at Jenrett's home the alleged assailant could not be found.

Junior Legion Group Elects At Hookstown

Karen Scott, chairman, presided. Eight attended. Plans were made to collect toys for an orphanage and to construct Easter basket favors for a veterans hospital.

Lunch was served by Delores Rommes and Miss Scott. Mrs. Ruth Leeper, chairman, and Mrs. Ruth Trimble, co-chairman, attended. Next meeting is March 4.

City Autos Involved In Mishap At Newell

Cars driven by two East Liverpool men were involved in a crash at the intersection of 5th and Washington Sts., Newell, Wednesday at 3:30 p. m., according to the Hancock County sheriff's office.

Deputies said a 1953 sedan driven by Samuel M. Stacey Jr., 22, of 1020 Riverview St. and a 1962 sedan driven by Richard F. Landfried, 40, of 903 Dresden Ave. collided at the intersection.

Stacey was unable to start his car and was given a shove by an unidentified vehicle. Traveling east on 5th St., Stacey was unable to halt at the intersection and struck the side of the Landfried car.

Stacey was cited for failure to have his vehicle under control.

failed to transfer plates after buying a new car.

On the charge of driving left of center, to which he pleaded "no contest," Kimbro was ordered to pay the $7.50 costs. The judge noted that Patrolman Jerry Adkins, the arresting officer, testified that the pavement was icy at the accident site.

The mishap was timed at 10:19 a. m. There was heavy damage to Kimbro's car, including the front, hood, and left side, officers said. The windshield also was broken, police said.

A skid was blamed for another mishap Wednesday at 7:45 p. m. at W. 5th and Monroe Sts., police said.

O'Toole told police his auto skidded on ice and bumped the Exley car as he turned off Monroe onto W. 5th. The left front fender of the Exley car was damaged, police said.

Another mishap yesterday afternoon on Avondale St. south of Franklin St. involved a parked 1954 sedan owned by Charles A. Hilditch, 1027 Avondale St., and a backing 1957 sedan operated by Carl L. Mumaw, 71, of 1805 Ohio Ave., police said.

Mumaw told police he was backing from a driveway and did not see the Hilditch auto.

On the charge of driving left of center, to which he pleaded "no contest," Kimbro was ordered to pay the $7.50 costs. The judge noted that Patrolman Jerry Adkins, the arresting officer, testified that the pavement was icy at the accident site.

The mishap was timed at 10:19 a. m. There was heavy damage to Kimbro's car, including the front, hood, and left side, officers said. The windshield also was broken, police said.

A skid was blamed for another mishap Wednesday at 7:45 p. m. at W. 5th and Monroe Sts., police said.

O'Toole told police his auto skidded on ice and bumped the Exley car as he turned off Monroe onto W. 5th. The left front fender of the Exley car was damaged, police said.

Another mishap yesterday afternoon on Avondale St. south of Franklin St. involved a parked 1954 sedan owned by Charles A. Hilditch, 1027 Avondale St., and a backing 1957 sedan operated by Carl L. Mumaw, 71, of 1805 Ohio Ave., police said.

Mumaw told police he was backing from a driveway and did not see the Hilditch auto.

Potters Out To Extend Streak To 4 Over Weekend

Toronto Invades Here Friday; ELHS Hits Road Saturday

They will be trying to extend their winning streak to four over the weekend, playing Toronto at Memorial Auditorium Friday night then traveling to Niles for a Big 8 battle Saturday.

Coach Jim Harris' squad is comable 8-3 record here, losing to two opponents which East Liverpool has defeated. Toronto dropped a 51-45 tilt to Wellsville and also lost to Steubenville Central. The other defeat came at the hands of Weirton, 75-52.

THE OTHER starters for the Knights will be Paul Saxton, a 6-foot jumping jack who has been strong on the backboards for Toronto. He has been averaging 16 to 18 rebounds per game.

Lee Graubner, at 6-foot-1 is the chief threat in the pivot for the Knights while Ken Young at 5-foot-11 will start at one guard. The four starters mentioned are all lettermen while the fifth man will be between Bob Urich, a 6-foot junior, or sophomore Dave Pellior, at 5-foot-11.

THE WELL-BALANCED Niles squad shows a 7-5 record overall and a 2-3 slate in Big 8 play. One of the victories, however, in Big 8 competition, came against Steubenville Big Red, 77-76, in a game played at Niles.

The Red Dragons also defeated Alliance, 69-62, but lost to Salem, 84-72, Massillon, 68-47, and Canton McKinley, 79-39.

COUNTING on speed and defense, Coach Joe Bassett, in his 17th year at Niles, will probably use a zone press against the Potters.

The starting five lists captain Don Andres, at 6-foot even, who is averaging 11.8 per game. Bo Rein, the All-Ohio football star, will get the starting nod. Rein, who stands 5-foot-11, is averaging 11 points a game.

THE HEIGHT for Niles comes in Dave Nestor, 6-foot-4 senior with a 10.8 average. Nestor has been called the most improved player on the Niles squad. He has been scoring heavy lately with his best effort coming against Salem when he dropped in 23.

The guards will be Dick Leonard, 5-foot-8 with a 10.9 average, and Tom James, 5-foot-11 and a 10.7 mark.

Bassett some times platoons, sending in a smaller squad which has a lot of speed.

The reserve game at Niles will start at 7 p. m. with the varsity contest about 8:30.

THE OPPONENTS this weekend are quite different from one another. Toronto, for instance, has one big gun in Tom "Chip" Coulter, a high-scoring guard, while Niles can put one of the most consistent quintets on the floor that can be found anywhere. All five starters for Niles are averaging in the double figures.

Toronto will be led to East Liverpool by the red-headed Coulter who stands 5-foot-9 and was playing first team on the varsity squad three years ago as a freshman. He is only a junior now. In 11 games he has scored 185 points, with his best effort 28 against Wellsburg. Bob Forzano, stellar defense man, will be given the job of watching Coulter.

3 Rookies May Crack Cleveland Lineup This Season

★ ★ ★ Tebbetts, Paul Go Very High On Young Trio ★ ★ ★

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Call it a sort of youth movement, but Gabe Paul, general manager of the Cleveland Indians, and his new field boss, Birdie Tebbetts, are high on three rookies who will be given a golden opportunity to crack the Tribe lineup in the 1963 season.

The Indian party from Lake Erie invaded Youngstown Wednesday for the annual press luncheon prior to when the Indians take off for Spring training at Tucson, Ariz.

THE TRIO that could better Cleveland's sixth place finish last year are infielders Antulio Martinez and Roy Alvis and outfielder Vic Davalillo.

The Cleveland management seemed very high on all three and Paul said "you'll see more kids with Cleveland this year than with any other club in the league. Those three I mentioned could make it this season."

Martinez is a slick fielding shortstop while Davalillo won the International League bat crown with a .346 mark and was rated the fastest man and best base runner in the league. Alvis led the Pacific Coast League in hits and batted .319 at Salt Lake City. He may move into a third base spot.

IF MARTINEZ would take over at shortstop what happens to Woody Held? Tebbets said "Held will be the most important man on the squad. He can play several positions. If not shortstop, third base, if not there the outfield and I can always use him as a pinch hitter. Held will have a job some place on my club."

"If these three kids don't make it in the majors then all the scouts are wrong," Tebbetts said. They were all tabbed as can't miss prospects.

And what does the veteran Tebbets expect from his players? "All I ask is that a player give me 90 feet to first base. The only time it becomes embarrassing for a manager is when the players aren't giving it 100 per cent from home to first."

—:—

"I'LL BE spending most of my time with the pitchers and catchers, they are the guts of the club. I have two good pitchers now, and I know they'll have jobs and they are Mudcat Grant and Dick Donovan."

Birdie, who can come up with the answers as fast as Jim Grant can throw a baseball, was asked who would play first base beside Joe Adcock, who was acquired from the Braves this winter.

"Fred Whitfield, who could become a great hitter, will be sharing duties with Adcock," Tebbetts answered. "Whitfield came to Cleveland in a trade with the Cardinals. Adcock is a slow starter but once he gets going is the type of player that can carry a club by himself."

Tebbetts pointed out that Tito Francona will return to the outfield and "I understand he is a better all around player in the outfield than when he is playing first base."

GOING around the infield, Tebbetts rates Jerry Kindall as one of the top defensive second basemen and feels the Indians will be pretty well set at second and short. "Martinez has more range than Held at shortstop," he added.

Tebbetts, who resembles the comedian Bert Lahr on a larger scale, was asked about discipline.

"There is no reason why a professional should abuse his body to hurt his effectiveness. I'm not going to put anyone to bed at night."

"I'm a loner, always have been even in my playing days. I've been around and know every place a player goes and if they go first class I'll catch them. I always told my players that my coaches can't catch them only me. I will not tolerate a player that hurts himself and eventually hurts the club."

TEBBETS, a former catcher himself, who wound up his career at Cleveland, said the Indians have two fine young catchers in John Romano and Doc Edwards. "Romano is one of the best in the country and Edwards will be given his chance."

Tebbetts, a former manager under Paul at Cincinnati and later an executive at Milwaukee, has a three year contract with the Indians.

Others in the Tribe contingent at Youngstown were Mel Harder, pitching coach and ex - Indian great; Hoot Evers, who starred at Detroit and is now vice president of the Indians; Charlie Morris, the club's traveling secretary; Ed Uhas, assistant publicity director, and Nate Wallack, publicity director.

Wallack reminded members of the area press and radio of the All-Star game in Cleveland July 9 and said the public sale of tickets would not begin until sometime in May.

In 1935 and 1954, Cleveland drew the biggest crowds ever to see an all-star game.

Cincy's Owens Rounds Into Shape Here For '63 Baseball Campaign

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Major League players everywhere are getting in their last-minute conditioning in preparation for the 1963 baseball season. Among them is Jim Owens, who resides in Midland during the off season and will report to the Cincinnati Reds training camp at Tampa, Fla., Feb. 21.

Owens, a righthanded hurler, was traded last November by the Philadelphia Phillies in a one-for-one swap.

DURING the winter months, Owens has been keeping in shape for the tough baseball grind which lies ahead by making use of the new East Liverpool YMCA Health Club and gymnasium.

The 29-year-old pitcher, who has been up in the Major Leagues the last four years, is a native of Gifford, Pa. His first trip in the majors came in 1955, but his baseball career was interrupted by a three-year hitch in the Army.

—:—

OWENS posted a 2-4 record with the Phillies last season and signed a $15,000 contract with the Reds for the 1963 campaign. Asked about the trade, Jim said, "I'm very happy about it." It gives the righthander a chance to pitch for a first-division club after hurling for a second-division team during his Major League career.

In 1958, Owens posted a 12-12 record with the last - place Phillies and was rated at the time as one of the best righthanders in the circuit.

TROUBLE developed between Owens and Phillie manager Gene Mauch. Dissatisfied, Jim sat out most of the 1961 season before finally reporting to the Phillies in the latter part of the campaign. He was with the Phillies throughout the 1962 season.

Being a low ball pitcher, Jim isn't too much concerned over the change in the strike zone which gives an edge to the hurler who likes to throw that high one to the batters.

"THE WIDER strike zone should help Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers. He is one of the best high fast ball pitchers in the majors," Owens said.

And how about Cincinnati's chances this season? Owens was very optimistic on this question. "We have a good shot at the pennant. The Reds were close last year and had to play most of the season without Gene Freese. Now he will be back in the lineup."

As far as the team to beat in the National League, Owens pointed directly to the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Heyman Sets Pace In Duke Victory

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Toward the close of the 1961-62 basketball season, Coach Bones McKinney of Wake Forest was asked his opinion of Duke star Art Heyman.

"I wouldn't attempt to try and add any new adjectives on Heyman. There aren't any left. He's great," McKinney replied.

The Wake Forest coach had no reason to downgrade that estimate today after the Blue Devil cornerman led Duke to an important 97-66 victory over McKinney's Deacons.

The serious, 6-foot-5 history student tossed in 22 points, handed out 13 assists and grabbed 10 rebounds in the 36 minutes he played Wednesday night.

The triumph left Duke, ranked third in the nation, with a 16-2 record and 9-0 in the Atlantic Coast Conference. For Wake Forest, defending league champ and the principal challenger to Duke this season, it was the second straight league loss after eight victories.

In some of the other major games, Pitt blasted Fordham 87-61, St. Louis routed Louisville 78-58, LaSalle scored its ninth straight in a 80-65 victory over Gettysburg, Villanova stormed over Canisius 79-60, Army beat Rutgers 83-65 and North Carolina took Morgan State 75-61.

Sophomore Jim Barry struck for 28 points in leading Georgetown to a 72-70 victory over New Orleans Loyola, Duquesne whipped Bethany, W.Va. 85-68, Ohio University edged Miami, Ohio 72-67, Dayton beat Xavier 79-63, St. Bonaventure defeated Steubenville 82-76, St. Mary's of California turned back Pepperdine, 84-69 and Loyola of Los Angeles downed the University of Pacific 72-61.

Slugging Frank Robinson Signs Pact For $60,000

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Robinson was loaded down with cabbage today—the kind with pictures of presidents on it—after officially ending all talk of quitting baseball Wednesday by signing his 1963 contract with the Cincinnati Reds for an estimated $60,000.

If the guess on Robinson's salary figure is correct, he's the highest paid player in Cincinnati history. Also, one of the fastest to change his mind about an early retirement.

Less than five months ago, Robinson wound up the season with the National League's second highest batting average, .342, and the startling announcement that he was quitting because of the "physical beating I've been taking in baseball."

Robinson said he was tired of being hit by pitches, that his back ached and that he was sore from sliding into bases. He said money was not a factor, but later left the door ajar with the statement that he could be induced to return for a salary in the neighborhood of $80,000.

Apparently, the 27-year-old, right-handed swinging outfielder got a step half way up, a $20,000 boost over his $40,000 check for 1962 when he hit 39 home runs and drove in 136 tallies.

Washington outfielder Jimmy Piersall said he is not likely to be on hand for the opening of spring training Feb. 26 unless something gives.

"All I want is what I have coming to me," said Piersall. "I don't think I deserve a pay cut."

Salineville, Beaver Local Quints Win County Crowns

Salineville and Beaver Local are the new Columbiana County grade school champs.

Salineville won the county Eighth Grade championship with a 30-25 victory over Fairfield-Waterford Wednesday on the Crestview floor.

The young Indians stepped off to a big lead then cruised to the title. Jim McCord was the big gun for Salineville with 15 points. Fitzsimmons tallied nine for the losers.

The title was the first won by Salineville for a number of years.

Beaver Local captured the Seventh Grade title by downing Fairfield - Waterford, 22-17.

Dennis Klembara with 13 points and Dave Horger's six markers took care of most of Beaver Local's scoring. McBride dropped in six points in a losing cause.

Trophies were awarded to Salineville and Beaver Local following their contests.

Wellsville 8th Graders Defeat East Jr., 44-27

Trailing at the end of the first quarter, Wellsville's eighth grade squad came roaring back to whip East Junior High, 44-27, Wednesday at Wellsville.

Falling behind 8-7, Wellsville went into a 21-15 halftime lead then put the game on ice with a 32-19 advantage at the third quarter pole.

Chris Thornton and Tod Weekley were the offensive standouts with 18 and 17 points respectively and Randy Dillard was the defensive star for the young Tigers.

Cooper, Gooding and Talbott shared honors for East with eight each.

Nationals, Warriors, Lakers Win In NBA

The Boston Celtics were quite tame in the National Basketball Association Wednesday night.

Accused of rough play before their game with the Syracuse Nationals, the Celtics took a 126-109 drubbing from the aroused Nats on the Syracuse court.

The San Francisco Warriors edged the Detroit Pistons 117-116 and the Los Angeles Lakers defeated the Chicago Zephyrs 107-105 in the other games scheduled.

The Celtics denied the charge of rough play, made after their victory over Cincinnati Tuesday, and there was only a minor flare-up.

TEBBETS, a former catcher himself, who wound up his career at Cleveland, said the Indians have two fine young catchers in John Romano and Doc Edwards. "Romano is one of the best in the country and Edwards will be given his chance."

Tebbetts, a former manager under Paul at Cincinnati and later an executive at Milwaukee, has a three year contract with the Indians.

Others in the Tribe contingent at Youngstown were Mel Harder, pitching coach and ex - Indian great; Hoot Evers, who starred at Detroit and is now vice president of the Indians; Charlie Morris, the club's traveling secretary; Ed Uhas, assistant publicity director, and Nate Wallack, publicity director.

Wallack reminded members of the area press and radio of the All-Star game in Cleveland July 9 and said the public sale of tickets would not begin until sometime in May.

In 1935 and 1954, Cleveland drew the biggest crowds ever to see an all-star game.

Cincy's Owens Rounds Into Shape Here For '63 Baseball Campaign

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Major League players everywhere are getting in their last-minute conditioning in preparation for the 1963 baseball season. Among them is Jim Owens, who resides in Midland during the off season and will report to the Cincinnati Reds training camp at Tampa, Fla., Feb. 21.

Owens, a righthanded hurler, was traded last November by the Philadelphia Phillies in a one-for-one swap.

DURING the winter months, Owens has been keeping in shape for the tough baseball grind which lies ahead by making use of the new East Liverpool YMCA Health Club and gymnasium.

The 29-year-old pitcher, who has been up in the Major Leagues the last four years, is a native of Gifford, Pa. His first trip in the majors came in 1955, but his baseball career was interrupted by a three-year hitch in the Army.

—:—

OWENS posted a 2-4 record with the Phillies last season and signed a $15,000 contract with the Reds for the 1963 campaign. Asked about the trade, Jim said, "I'm very happy about it." It gives the righthander a chance to pitch for a first-division club after hurling for a second-division team during his Major League career.

In 1958, Owens posted a 12-12 record with the last - place Phillies and was rated at the time as one of the best righthanders in the circuit.

TROUBLE developed between Owens and Phillie manager Gene Mauch. Dissatisfied, Jim sat out most of the 1961 season before finally reporting to the Phillies in the latter part of the campaign. He was with the Phillies throughout the 1962 season.

Being a low ball pitcher, Jim isn't too much concerned over the change in the strike zone which gives an edge to the hurler who likes to throw that high one to the batters.

"THE WIDER strike zone should help Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers. He is one of the best high fast ball pitchers in the majors," Owens said.

And how about Cincinnati's chances this season? Owens was very optimistic on this question. "We have a good shot at the pennant. The Reds were close last year and had to play most of the season without Gene Freese. Now he will be back in the lineup."

As far as the team to beat in the National League, Owens pointed directly to the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Heyman Sets Pace In Duke Victory

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Toward the close of the 1961-62 basketball season, Coach Bones McKinney of Wake Forest was asked his opinion of Duke star Art Heyman.

"I wouldn't attempt to try and add any new adjectives on Heyman. There aren't any left. He's great," McKinney replied.

The Wake Forest coach had no reason to downgrade that estimate today after the Blue Devil cornerman led Duke to an important 97-66 victory over McKinney's Deacons.

The serious, 6-foot-5 history student tossed in 22 points, handed out 13 assists and grabbed 10 rebounds in the 36 minutes he played Wednesday night.

The triumph left Duke, ranked third in the nation, with a 16-2 record and 9-0 in the Atlantic Coast Conference. For Wake Forest, defending league champ and the principal challenger to Duke this season, it was the second straight league loss after eight victories.

In some of the other major games, Pitt blasted Fordham 87-61, St. Louis routed Louisville 78-58, LaSalle scored its ninth straight in a 80-65 victory over Gettysburg, Villanova stormed over Canisius 79-60, Army beat Rutgers 83-65 and North Carolina took Morgan State 75-61.

Sophomore Jim Barry struck for 28 points in leading Georgetown to a 72-70 victory over New Orleans Loyola, Duquesne whipped Bethany, W.Va. 85-68, Ohio University edged Miami, Ohio 72-67, Dayton beat Xavier 79-63, St. Bonaventure defeated Steubenville 82-76, St. Mary's of California turned back Pepperdine, 84-69 and Loyola of Los Angeles downed the University of Pacific 72-61.

Slugging Frank Robinson Signs Pact For $60,000

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Robinson was loaded down with cabbage today—the kind with pictures of presidents on it—after officially ending all talk of quitting baseball Wednesday by signing his 1963 contract with the Cincinnati Reds for an estimated $60,000.

If the guess on Robinson's salary figure is correct, he's the highest paid player in Cincinnati history. Also, one of the fastest to change his mind about an early retirement.

Less than five months ago, Robinson wound up the season with the National League's second highest batting average, .342, and the startling announcement that he was quitting because of the "physical beating I've been taking in baseball."

Robinson said he was tired of being hit by pitches, that his back ached and that he was sore from sliding into bases. He said money was not a factor, but later left the door ajar with the statement that he could be induced to return for a salary in the neighborhood of $80,000.

Apparently, the 27-year-old, right-handed swinging outfielder got a step half way up, a $20,000 boost over his $40,000 check for 1962 when he hit 39 home runs and drove in 136 tallies.

Washington outfielder Jimmy Piersall said he is not likely to be on hand for the opening of spring training Feb. 26 unless something gives.

"All I want is what I have coming to me," said Piersall. "I don't think I deserve a pay cut."

Nationals, Warriors, Lakers Win In NBA

The Boston Celtics were quite tame in the National Basketball Association Wednesday night.

Accused of rough play before their game with the Syracuse Nationals, the Celtics took a 126-109 drubbing from the aroused Nats on the Syracuse court.

The San Francisco Warriors edged the Detroit Pistons 117-116 and the Los Angeles Lakers defeated the Chicago Zephyrs 107-105 in the other games scheduled.

The Celtics denied the charge of rough play, made after their victory over Cincinnati Tuesday, and there was only a minor flare-up.

Salineville, Beaver Local Quints Win County Crowns

Salineville and Beaver Local are the new Columbiana County grade school champs.

Salineville won the county Eighth Grade championship with a 30-25 victory over Fairfield-Waterford Wednesday on the Crestview floor.

The young Indians stepped off to a big lead then cruised to the title. Jim McCord was the big gun for Salineville with 15 points. Fitzsimmons tallied nine for the losers.

The title was the first won by Salineville for a number of years.

Beaver Local captured the Seventh Grade title by downing Fairfield - Waterford, 22-17.

Dennis Klembara with 13 points and Dave Horger's six markers took care of most of Beaver Local's scoring. McBride dropped in six points in a losing cause.

Trophies were awarded to Salineville and Beaver Local following their contests.

Wellsville 8th Graders Defeat East Jr., 44-27

Trailing at the end of the first quarter, Wellsville's eighth grade squad came roaring back to whip East Junior High, 44-27, Wednesday at Wellsville.

Falling behind 8-7, Wellsville went into a 21-15 halftime lead then put the game on ice with a 32-19 advantage at the third quarter pole.

Chris Thornton and Tod Weekley were the offensive standouts with 18 and 17 points respectively and Randy Dillard was the defensive star for the young Tigers.

Cooper, Gooding and Talbott shared honors for East with eight each.

We have had such a long siege of snow and cold it is only reasonable to assume the worse part of the winter is over. Not that there won't be some rough weather ahead, but not prolonged on the sub-zero side.

THE BEAVER trapping season will begin Feb. 15 and continue through Feb. 28. You beaver trappers should make arrangements with the landowners in advance so when the season opens you can get into action.

At the same time, may I urge landowners wanting the beavers removed from their property to either let me know about it—and I will supply plenty of trappers—or put a sign in front of your property "Beaver Trappers Wanted". Otherwise you can sit still and wait until next spring and gripe to the game protector about the beavers that have been doing damage for the past several years.

It seems that everybody is predicting the weather, so I figure I have a right to make my own predictions.

One thing is sure, if we get a heavy rain with all this accumulation of snow, I pity the people living along the Ohio River. Flood control or no floor control dams, when enough water flows downstream it will cover all the flood control dams.

I LIVED IN Pomeroy for 10 years before putting in my appearance up here. When the Ohio River left its banks and covered the rooftops, most of us had a "John boat" and we traveled from friend to friend's home on the high ground and had some lively parties until the water receded.

Everything that would float had long ago gone down the Ohio River. When the water receded we hosed out, scrubbed down and went about business as usual.

During the 1937 flood, I was the commander of American Legion Drew Webster Post No. 39. Food was needed during this disaster. I called Father Eugene Dunn in Millersburg, a former Pomeroy priest, and the next day three truckloads of the best food possible arrived.

We set up a regular grocery store, passed out food and clothing where needed, no questions asked. We were in action long before so-called disaster units got into operation.

Athletic Club At Hookstown Picks Hanover District Aide

Charles Ross was named an alternate director for the Hanover district to succeed Andy Reese, who resigned, at a meeting of the Hookstown Athletic Club Tuesday night at the South Side American Legion home.

James Ashcroft, president, conducted business. All districts were represented except Frankfort Springs. Charles Wright, treasurer, reported a balance of $609.59.

The schedule committee said the 1963 schedule for the Junior and Senior Hot Stove Leagues will be completed by the next meeting.

The club voted to renew its charter with the National Hot Stove League. Approval was given to have 400 new contracts printed for the 1963 season.

A discussion was held on Colt teams, umpires and fund-raising projects. A committee was named to line up and schedule umpires for summer games. It includes James Williamson, chairman, Richard Haynes and Alex Suralie.

Plans were started for a Memorial Day program. Legion Post 952 will be contacted on the project. In the past the two groups have joined for a program. Committees will be named later.

District directors were urged to have the women of their areas attend the election of officers by the Athletic Club auxiliary Monday, Feb. 18, at 8 p. m. at the Legion Hall.

Paul Verzella reported the sale of 304 booster tickets. He said the Shippingport, Hanover and Newell areas have not yet reported.

Next meeting is Feb. 19, according to Daniel Wright, secretary.

'Flood' Fear Checked At Marshall's Bottom

River towns from Pittsburgh to Cairo apparently have escaped high water as an aftermath of recent severe weather, but it appeared for a time Wednesday night meandering Dry Run might flood into Marshall's Bottom, the low-lying residential area just off Elizabeth St.

Safety-Service Director Robert Owen said today he sent a police cruiser to check on a report the ice-choked little run was out of its banks and had cut off access to the neighborhood via Bridge St. But police found no immediate danger to any homes, the director said.

The street department was ready to clear the ice, if necessary, Owen said. Apparently the run was blocked at a point where it flows underneath the Pennsylvania Railroad right-of-way to the Ohio River.

Not Heart Attack

Coroner Rules Motorist Died Of Collision Injury

Although a 61-year-old Wellsville area man suffered a heart attack just prior to a two-car crash on Route 30 Tuesday night near Lisbon, his death resulted from an injury in the mishap Columbiana County Coroner William Koloszi said today.

A fractured larynx caused the death of Sullie F. Miller of Wellsville R. D. 1, formerly of Rogers, according to Dr. Koloszi of Salem, who ruled the coal business figure was a traffic victim.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon and Dr. Koloszi said Mr. Miller apparently had a slight heart attack while headed southeast about three miles south of Lisbon.

Dr. Koloszi said the victim suffered a neck injury and fractured ribs and his dental plate was lodged in his throat, but death stemmed from the fractured larynx.

His car crossed the center line and into the path of an oncoming auto operated by Arthur Biscan, 34, of 321 Maple St., Lisbon, who swerved to avoid a crash, but whose car skidded on the icy road and the head-on smash occurred, the patrol said.

Biscan and Jerry McCord, 21, of N. Market St., Lisbon, a passenger in his car, were treated at Salem City Hospital for cuts and bruises and released. Harold Kepner, 49, of 11 Alice Ave., Lisbon, another passenger, was admitted to the hospital with cuts and abrasions, but was released Wednesday.

Services for Mr. Miller will be held Friday afternoon at 1:30 at the VanDyke Funeral Home at East Palestine. Burial will be in New Waterford Cemetery.

He was born in Ritchie County, W. Va. near Cairo.

He was a member of the Lisbon Kiwanis Club.

Survivors include a son, Jack Miller of New Waterford; four sisters, Mrs. Gae Jordan of Beaver Falls, Mrs. Della Harden and Mrs. Effie Rexroad, both of Cairo, and Mrs. Mae Welch of Harrisville, W. Va., and two brothers, Frank Miller and Charlie Miller both of Harrisville.

Friends may call at the funeral home any time.

Health Units Eye Plans For Joint Offices At Lisbon

LISBON — Representatives of eight Columbiana County volunteer health agencies at a meeting Wednesday expressed interest in finding a common headquarters at Lisbon.

About 21 persons, representing 12 groups in the county, attended the luncheon meeting at the Wick Hotel.

The group will meet March 6 at the hotel for further study of the proposal.

The Rev. George Sweeney of Columbiana presided.

Side Of Car Damaged In Route 45 Collision

The side of a Michigan man's car was heavily damaged in a two-car collision on Route 45 about a mile north of Wellsville Wednesday, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Killed With One Shot

A feathered wooden shaft was recovered after an autopsy showed a steel arrowhead imbedded in Thrasher's body. It is the first homicide of its kind in police department records.

At the same time, may I urge landowners wanting the beavers removed from their property to either let me know about it—and I will supply plenty of trappers—or put a sign in front of your property "Beaver Trappers Wanted". Otherwise you can sit still and wait until next spring and gripe to the game protector about the beavers that have been doing damage for the past several years.

It seems that everybody is predicting the weather, so I figure I have a right to make my own predictions.

One thing is sure, if we get a heavy rain with all this accumulation of snow, I pity the people living along the Ohio River. Flood control or no floor control dams, when enough water flows downstream it will cover all the flood control dams.

I LIVED IN Pomeroy for 10 years before putting in my appearance up here. When the Ohio River left its banks and covered the rooftops, most of us had a "John boat" and we traveled from friend to friend's home on the high ground and had some lively parties until the water receded.

Everything that would float had long ago gone down the Ohio River. When the water receded we hosed out, scrubbed down and went about business as usual.

During the 1937 flood, I was the commander of American Legion Drew Webster Post No. 39. Food was needed during this disaster. I called Father Eugene Dunn in Millersburg, a former Pomeroy priest, and the next day three truckloads of the best food possible arrived.

We set up a regular grocery store, passed out food and clothing where needed, no questions asked. We were in action long before so-called disaster units got into operation.

Side Of Car Damaged In Route 45 Collision

The side of a Michigan man's car was heavily damaged in a two-car collision on Route 45 about a mile north of Wellsville Wednesday, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

'Flood' Fear Checked At Marshall's Bottom

River towns from Pittsburgh to Cairo apparently have escaped high water as an aftermath of recent severe weather, but it appeared for a time Wednesday night meandering Dry Run might flood into Marshall's Bottom, the low-lying residential area just off Elizabeth St.

Safety-Service Director Robert Owen said today he sent a police cruiser to check on a report the ice-choked little run was out of its banks and had cut off access to the neighborhood via Bridge St. But police found no immediate danger to any homes, the director said.

The street department was ready to clear the ice, if necessary, Owen said. Apparently the run was blocked at a point where it flows underneath the Pennsylvania Railroad right-of-way to the Ohio River.

Not Heart Attack

Coroner Rules Motorist Died Of Collision Injury

Although a 61-year-old Wellsville area man suffered a heart attack just prior to a two-car crash on Route 30 Tuesday night near Lisbon, his death resulted from an injury in the mishap Columbiana County Coroner William Koloszi said today.

A fractured larynx caused the death of Sullie F. Miller of Wellsville R. D. 1, formerly of Rogers, according to Dr. Koloszi of Salem, who ruled the coal business figure was a traffic victim.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon and Dr. Koloszi said Mr. Miller apparently had a slight heart attack while headed southeast about three miles south of Lisbon.

Dr. Koloszi said the victim suffered a neck injury and fractured ribs and his dental plate was lodged in his throat, but death stemmed from the fractured larynx.

His car crossed the center line and into the path of an oncoming auto operated by Arthur Biscan, 34, of 321 Maple St., Lisbon, who swerved to avoid a crash, but whose car skidded on the icy road and the head-on smash occurred, the patrol said.

Biscan and Jerry McCord, 21, of N. Market St., Lisbon, a passenger in his car, were treated at Salem City Hospital for cuts and bruises and released. Harold Kepner, 49, of 11 Alice Ave., Lisbon, another passenger, was admitted to the hospital with cuts and abrasions, but was released Wednesday.

Services for Mr. Miller will be held Friday afternoon at 1:30 at the VanDyke Funeral Home at East Palestine. Burial will be in New Waterford Cemetery.

He was born in Ritchie County, W. Va. near Cairo.

He was a member of the Lisbon Kiwanis Club.

Survivors include a son, Jack Miller of New Waterford; four sisters, Mrs. Gae Jordan of Beaver Falls, Mrs. Della Harden and Mrs. Effie Rexroad, both of Cairo, and Mrs. Mae Welch of Harrisville, W. Va., and two brothers, Frank Miller and Charlie Miller both of Harrisville.

Friends may call at the funeral home any time.

Health Units Eye Plans For Joint Offices At Lisbon

LISBON — Representatives of eight Columbiana County volunteer health agencies at a meeting Wednesday expressed interest in finding a common headquarters at Lisbon.

About 21 persons, representing 12 groups in the county, attended the luncheon meeting at the Wick Hotel.

The group will meet March 6 at the hotel for further study of the proposal.

The Rev. George Sweeney of Columbiana presided.

Name, Location Given For New Power Station

FAIRMONT, W. Va. (AP) — The new $57.5 million 500,000 kilowatt generating unit to be built by the Allegheny Power System north of Morgantown will be known as the Fort Martin Power Station.

Potter said Dr. Edward V. McMichael, an archeologist on the staff of the West Virginia Geological and Economic survey, had been engaged to determine as accurately as possible the exact location of "Martin's Fort," as it was sometimes known.

It was built in the area no later than 1773 by Charles Martin and underwent one recorded Indian attack.

The new power station is due for completion in 1967. It is part of an over-all power supply development announced last November.

Pressmen's Pact May Be Break In Cleveland Strike

CLEVELAND (AP) — A new agreement providing for $10 weekly wage increases over two years has been reached between the non - striking Pressmen's Union and publishers of the city's two strikebound daily newspapers.

The settlement, ratified Wednesday night, could provide a basis for agreements with 11 other unions at the morning Plain Dealer and the afternoon Press and News. All their contracts have passed expiration dates.

Still unsettled are contracts with five striking unions that represent more than 2,000 employes of the two newspapers. More than 1,000 additional newspaper employes are affected by the walkout, which rounds out its 10th week tonight.

In another development Wednesday, the Cleveland Newspaper guild reached agreement with the Plain Dealer on all issues but money items for a proposed two-year contract.

In addition to wage increases, the Pressmen's new pact provides for improved vacation pay, fringe benefits and working conditions.

Pressmen will get a $5 weekly pay increase retroactive to Dec. 1 and another $5 weekly pay hike next Dec. 1.

Findlay's Bus Firm To Reduce Operations

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP)—Starting today only two of the Findlay Bus Co.'s six vehicles will operate, the firm has announced.

The privately-owned company which left Marion and began operating in Findlay Dec. 2 says it is losing $40 a day in its operation.

Rhodes Will Attend Cleveland Ceremonies

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ground breaking ceremonies for Cleveland's Erieview development project were scheduled today with Gov. James A. Rhodes participating.

The governor cancelled his news conference in Columbus today so he could attend.

Name, Location Given For New Power Station

FAIRMONT, W. Va. (AP) — The new $57.5 million 500,000 kilowatt generating unit to be built by the Allegheny Power System north of Morgantown will be known as the Fort Martin Power Station.

Potter said Dr. Edward V. McMichael, an archeologist on the staff of the West Virginia Geological and Economic survey, had been engaged to determine as accurately as possible the exact location of "Martin's Fort," as it was sometimes known.

It was built in the area no later than 1773 by Charles Martin and underwent one recorded Indian attack.

The new power station is due for completion in 1967. It is part of an over-all power supply development announced last November.

Pressmen's Pact May Be Break In Cleveland Strike

CLEVELAND (AP) — A new agreement providing for $10 weekly wage increases over two years has been reached between the non - striking Pressmen's Union and publishers of the city's two strikebound daily newspapers.

The settlement, ratified Wednesday night, could provide a basis for agreements with 11 other unions at the morning Plain Dealer and the afternoon Press and News. All their contracts have passed expiration dates.

Still unsettled are contracts with five striking unions that represent more than 2,000 employes of the two newspapers. More than 1,000 additional newspaper employes are affected by the walkout, which rounds out its 10th week tonight.

In another development Wednesday, the Cleveland Newspaper guild reached agreement with the Plain Dealer on all issues but money items for a proposed two-year contract.

In addition to wage increases, the Pressmen's new pact provides for improved vacation pay, fringe benefits and working conditions.

Pressmen will get a $5 weekly pay increase retroactive to Dec. 1 and another $5 weekly pay hike next Dec. 1.

Findlay's Bus Firm To Reduce Operations

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP)—Starting today only two of the Findlay Bus Co.'s six vehicles will operate, the firm has announced.

The privately-owned company which left Marion and began operating in Findlay Dec. 2 says it is losing $40 a day in its operation.

Rhodes Will Attend Cleveland Ceremonies

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ground breaking ceremonies for Cleveland's Erieview development project were scheduled today with Gov. James A. Rhodes participating.

The governor cancelled his news conference in Columbus today so he could attend.

Junior Editors Quiz on TURTLES

QUESTION: How do turtles live under water?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: The turtles are a remarkably successful group of animals. The turtle tribe has been crawling and swimming for 175 million years; and while other kinds of animals have vanished, the turtles are still with us, almost in their original form. Probably their shell structure has helped them most, since it is such a good protection from enemies. But they have also developed some other helpful body arrangements. One of these enables them to stay for long times underwater. While he is clumsy on the ground, he is graceful and fast below the surface and he is extremely fond of fishfood. The turtle has lungs similar to other land creatures, but his chest and rib structure is somewhat different. The special feature which allows turtles to breathe underwater is the development of certain membranes in the throat, or what is called the "cloacal region", which work in much the same way as do the gills of a fish. This allows the turtle to take in some of the oxygen he needs directly from the water.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Try to guess whether the situation shown in our picture is real or has been dreamed up by our artist. It's real. That ugly brute is the Alligator Snapping Turtle, and the grub in his mouth is actually part of his tongue which he is wriggling to make look alive. What will happen to the fish? Well, you take it from here.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Correction, please, on your statement—"You've got a tin ear, brother, and there's no cure for it."

There is, indeed, a cure for it, if "Brother" is willing to work hard. A cousin of mine loved to sing but the poor guy couldn't carry a tune in a picnic basket. He was determined not to miss the fun of singing and set out to memorize sounds. He actually slaved at training his ear and after awhile he was able to sing on key.

By the time he got to Harvard he sang well enough to join the Harvard Glee Club. For four years he was one of their best baritones. Although he never achieved absolute pitch (this cannot be taught) he did succeed in overcoming his tin ear.—ROBERT C. MARSH.

Dear Bob: I stand corrected (by the distinguished music critic of the Chicago Sun-Times yet). Thank you, in behalf of all the tin ears in the land.

Unwanted Help

Dear Ann: When I have guests for dinner I like to clear the dishes and leave everything in the kitchen until I can do things MY way. My guests think they are doing me a favor when they insist on "helping."

I keep repeating, "No, no . . . I'd prefer to do it myself," yet they go right on chipping my china, breaking the stems off my good crystal and scratching the silver.

One guest threw a large piece of roast beef into the garbage can before I could stop her. Another guest tossed out several servings of salad, saying, "Why clutter up the refrigerator with this?"

Please, Ann, tell people when a hostess says she'd rather clean up the dishes herself she means it. Thanks—RUTH.

Dear Ruth: When some people say "no" it sounds like "maybe." If you don't want help, be emphatic. Often it's not what you say but the way you say it that delivers the message.

Strangers At Home

Dear Ann: I'm writing in regard to the 19-year-old girl who signed herself Grace. She and her mother were like strangers. There was no warmth between them. Grace said there never was.

You put the whole blame on the mother. I think you could be wrong. My own daughter is 16, and she's another Grace.

When she was 7, she let me know she didn't want my hugs and kisses. Whenever I tried to be affectionate she pushed me away. So, I stopped trying. Many times I longed to hold her in my arms but she had set up the barrier.

My husband left me when my "Grace" was 6. Perhaps this is a clue. I remarried a few years later and now have a loving husband and a darling, affectionate daughter. The two girls are as different as night and day.

So please print my letter, Ann, and tell some of those cold daughters to warm up toward their mothers and maybe they will get something in return.—DELTA.

Dear Delta: No one is born "cold." All children want to be loved. If your daughter refused to accept your affection it was because you somehow rejected her first.

Your "clue" is a revealing one. You did not love your husband and this child by him was probably unwanted—and unloved. Your second marriage was a good one. You loved the man and you loved his child. A child's heart is the most delicately sensitive machine in the world. It knows.

Confidentially

TO DESERTED: Constant use will wear anything out—especially "dear friends." You overdid it, so don't blame THEM.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

12 Will Attend Area Session

Twelve members will represent the Chamber of Commerce Friday at Pittsburgh at a regional meeting on "Citizenship Action" featuring addresses by executives of the U. S. Chamber.

Scheduled to attend the all-day meeting at the Penn - Sheraton Hotel are:

W. R. Webber, W. F. Porter, Alvin T. Babb, W. E. Williams, Donald Honicky, Charles D. Taylor, H. J. English, Dean Wilhelm, John T. Hall, S. C. Porter Jr., Robert E. Boyce and E. R. Chandler, secretary - manager.

The session is called an "aircade" because the U. S. Chamber executives who will speak are flying from city to city by chartered plane. The team is headed by H. Ladd Plumley, U. S. Chamber president and chairman and president of the State Mutual Life Assurance Co. of America at Worcester, Mass.

Moderating a question period will be Arch N. Booth, executive vice president of the national organization. The meeting will stress issues facing the 88th Congress.

Delegations are expected from throughout Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. It's the seventh year the U. S. Chamber has presented the programs in key cities from coast to coast. The "Aircade" will travel as far west as Seattle and as far south as Orlando, Fla.

Will Help Unload

Levies Filed For Primary

Three more special issues were filed Wednesday afternoon with the County Election Board, raising to four the number entered to date for a decision at special elections concurrently with the primaries May 7.

The Lisbon Exempted Village School District entered two propositions — a proposal for renewal of a 16-mill levy for current operating expenses and a new 3-mill levy, also for current expenses. Both would be in effect five years.

Wellsville filed a 2-mill levy for two years to finance purchase of a new pumper for its fire department. The resolution to submit the levy was enacted by Council Tuesday night.

The fourth proposition was filed several weeks ago by the Leetonia Exempted Village School District. It calls for renewal of two existing levies — one of 6 mills and one of 2 mills — to constitute an 8-mill tax. It also would be in effect five years.

All the propositions will require a 55 per cent affirmative vote for approval, the Election Board said.

When special issues are presented in May, they are decided upon at special elections held on the same date as the primary.

Catholic Group Lists 61 Helped

LISBON — The annual report of the Advisory Board of the Catholic Service Bureau of Columbiana County shows 61 families or individuals, Catholic and non-Catholic, were given service on a continuing or major basis during 1962.

A total of 156 children received care and attention in their own home or inplacement. Four children were placed for adoption and 50 placements were either in boarding homes or institutions.

On a minor or emergency basis, 82 individuals and families involving 111 children received help. Expenditures for 1962 for all area services were $25,358.32. Most of this money came from Catholic Charities. Income also is received from the Salem Community Fund, parents and miscellaneous gifts, according to Mary Catherine Donahue, executive secretary.

The jury returned the following special verdict:

Court therefor finds against plaintiff on his petition and finds for defendant on his cross - petition and assesses damages in favor of defendant and plaintiff for above amounts.
